Dodgers Roar Back With 8-3 Win

ESQUIMALT BASE READIES FOR LARGEST RCN EXERCISE

Podres' Birthday Tough on Yanks

BROOKLYN (AP)—Johnny Podres, celebrating his 23rd birthday, silenced the New York Yankees' big bats today and Brooklyn Dodgers won the third game of the World Series, 8-3.

The Yanks still have a 2-1 lead in the series after winning the first two games in Yankee Stadium.

A capacity Ebbets Field crowd of 34,209 went wild as southpaw Podres held the Yanks to seven hits while Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella backed him up with splendid hitting and fielding.

PLAY-BY-PLAY, BOX SCORE ON PAGE 2.

Campanella socked a homer to start the scoring and later added a single that drove in another run and a double.

The wildness of Yankee starter Bob Turley contributed to his own downfall in the second inning after a homer by Mickey Mantle—a surprise starter—had paced the Yanks to a two-run, game-tying rally. The Dodgers broke the tie with two gift runs and continued to score against three other Yankee pitchers.

The first two innings contained enough action and excitement for a whole game.

FIRST HIT A HOMER

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the first when Campanella smashed a home run—his first hit of the series—into the left-centre field stands behind a walk of Pee-wee Reese.

The Yanks came back to tie it in the second, putting together three of their hits off Podres with a Brooklyn error for two runs. The lame-legged Mantle opened with a 383-foot home run drive into the centre field stands. Bill Skowron doubled and, after two were out, Rizzuto slashed a single to left. Skowron steamed to the plate, crashed into Campanella as he took the throw and knocked the ball out of his grasp. It was an error for the Dodger catcher and a run for the Yanks.

After that the Yanks couldn't score again until the seventh and Brooklyn regained the lead when Turley's control went sour in the last of the second. With one out, Robinson singled and Sandy Amoros was hit by a pitched ball. Podres bunted down the third base line and it was called a hit when Turley took the ball in front of Gil McDougald, bobbled it momentarily and couldn't make a throw.

With the bases full and Robinson dancing off third in a distracting way, Turley walked Junior Gilliam to force in the tie-breaking run. Tom Morgan was called in at this stage and issued a pass to Reese that sent Amoros with another run before he got the side out. Brooklyn got two more runs in the fourth to stretch its lead to 6-2.

GET TO PODRES

The Yanks began hitting Podres in the sixth and finally got their third run in the seventh on a walk to Rizzuto and a three-bagger by Andy Carey, pinch-hitting for Johnny Kucks, the third Yank pitcher. Brooklyn came right back with two more in the same inning, due largely to some fine base running by Robinson.

Half Billion Ford Earnings For Expansion

MAHWAH, N.J. (UP)—Henry Ford II predicted here that the American economy is about to break through onto a "new, higher plateau" of prosperity.

He announced that the Ford Motor Company will spend a record $500,000,000 for expansion in 1956.

Ford said the money would come from earnings and not borrowing. The amount probably is a record for expansion for any company of Ford's size during any single year, he said.

Ford spoke at a dinner sponsored by state officials and the new Jersey chamber of commerce honoring the company in connection with the dedication today of Ford's new assembly plant.

Ford said there was a need for Americans to show their faith in the economy.

"The so-called market of the future, the explosion we all anticipate for the early sixties, is no longer a distant dream."

"In effect, we are now in a condition of unplanned scarcity because we can't produce adequately to meet the demands of this great American market," he said.

Ford said he did not think that the American economy could move ahead too quickly if there was proper planning.

HIRED BY CNR

Dr. Solandt Quits Defence Research

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. O. M. Solandt, 46, chairman of the Defence Research Board since its creation in 1947, resigned today to join Canadian National Railways as assistant vice-president, research and development.

The defence department announced that Dr. Solandt will be succeeded as DRB chairman next March 1 by A. Hartley Zimmerman, 53, a native of Hamilton.

It was understood that Dr. Solandt will become vice-president of the CNR on retirement of S. W. Fairweather in 1957. No reason was given in the announcement for Dr. Solandt's move to the CNR. But it has been known for some time that he wished to enter private industry. As chairman of DRB, his salary was $17,500 a year. He turned down numerous offers from American private industry which would have paid him as much as $50,000 a year.

In Montreal, CNR president Donald Gordon said the Dr. Solandt appointment "marks the emphasis being placed on scientific development in railroad techniques."

NUCLEAR EXPERT

Dr. Solandt, native of Winnipeg, probably knows more about nuclear weapons than any other Canadian.

He represented the British war office in Japan on a post-war study of the effects of the atomic bomb bursts on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In 1952, he witnessed the first British atomic bomb tests in Australia.

Since 1947, when the Canadian Defence Research Board was formed with Dr. Solandt as chairman, the DRB has grown to be the largest research organization in Canada with laboratories from Halifax to Esquimalt, B.C., and from Toronto to Churchill, Man.

Dr. Solandt's successor as

DR. O. M. SOLANDT

DRB chairman is a mining engineer and geologist, who served during the Second World War as a director of small arms production and later as director-general of signals production in the department of munitions and supply.

From February, 1952, until early this year Mr. Zimmerman was a member of the Defence Research Board representing the defence production department. Last January he was appointed vice-chairman of the board.

Morocco Sultan Ready to Quit; Aide Vamooses

RABAT, French Morocco (AP)—Embattled Sultan Mohammed Ben Moulay Arafat offered today to quit the Moroccan throne if he can turn his powers over to a member of his family.

The first public break in the 74-year-old ruler's determination to keep the post the French gave him two years ago came after the French resident-general, Pierre Boyer de Latour, ordered the arrest of the sultan's chief aide, protocol chief Abderrahman el Hahoui.

El Hajoui sped off in his white Cadillac before dawn toward Casablanca, with two jeeps of police in hot pursuit. Boyer de Latour charged the protocol chief had exercised "inadmissible pressure" on the sultan to make him refuse to quit.

Although Moulay Arafat attempted to put conditions on his long-expected departure, his troubled hold on the throne appeared to be drawing rapidly to an end.

French Premier Edgar Faure's government promised Moroccan nationalists to remove the old man as the first step in a settlement to end the violence in the North African protectorate and give it some measure of self-rule.

Moulay Arafat has been the chief nationalist target since the French exiled his nephew, Sultan Mohammed Ben Youssef, and put the old man on the throne in 1953.

PARIS (Reuters)—Riot police ringed a church in the Paris Latin quarter here Thursday night as more than 200 young French army and air force draftees, due to be shipped to North Africa shortly, held a meeting of silent protest inside. The draftees filed quietly out of church after the service and dispersed to their homes.

MOSCOW (AP)—Two Russian weight lifters broke their own world records Wednesday. Lightweight Fedor Nikitin pressed 264 pounds, a pound more than his previous mark, and middleweight Yri Dugano registered 292½ pounds in the two-handed snatch, a pound better than his old record.

UN Decides Today On Algeria Debate

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y., (UP)—A French threat to quit the United Nations if the world body tampers with its Algerian problems clashed head-on today with a strong Arab drive for full-scale debate on the rebellion-torn African territory.

The general assembly was scheduled to hear addresses by British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan and Czech Foreign Minister Vaclav David and then launch into discussion of whether it should debate the Algerian question.

UN officials said they would press for a final decision by the end of today's session on the question which sparked a French threat to withdraw from the UN.

Unimpeachably authoritative sources said French Premier Edgar Faure had told foreign minister Antoine Pinay, here for the assembly debate, that he would seek parliamentary approval for France's withdrawal if the assembly votes to debate the issue raised by Algerian demands for self-government.

On to the North

IN THE NORTHERN EXTENSION of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway the British Columbia Government is attempting to save a large sum of money and, at the same time, tap all the chief traffic sources of the Peace River country. That is the purpose of the Pine Pass route and a northeasterly spur to Fort St. John.

Two choices were open to the Government. It could push the railway directly north from Prince George to the junction of the Parsnip and the Finlay, where the great Peace River is born, and then follow the main stream eastward through the Rockies in a long right-angle triangle. Or it could cut northeasterly from Prince George by the hypotenuse of the Pine.

Both routes have long had their advocates in the north, but Mr. Bennett apparently has selected the Pine Pass mainly for financial reasons. He says the Peace route would cost $65 millions and the Pine route $43 millions.

The saving thus effected is a strong and perhaps decisive argument in favor of the Pine. Yet there are disadvantages in the Government's decision.

The railway will follow, for all practical purposes, the route of the John Hart Highway, an excellent gravel road which doubtless will be paved not long hence and which already is carrying a large freight traffic by truck. The P.G.E. operates trucks on this route and soon, with its railway, will itself be conducting an interesting competition between two forms of transportation.

On the other hand, the Peace River route would open a large new country rich in timber, and coal, and said to be rich in other minerals and in farm land, where there is no means of transportation at present.

Mr. Bennett and his engineers are anxious, however, to reach the established productive areas of the Peace River country as rapidly as possible, by the shortest route and the lowest expenditure. This seems wise.

Their line will join the existing Alberta railway system at its terminal of Dawson Creek and thereby create a huge northern loop, starting at Edmonton and ending eventually at Vancouver—a major development in the nation's railway system.

Without a spur line to Fort St. John the P.G.E. would not tap the great natural gas fields there. Mr. Bennett proposes to build such a spur, to cross the Peace (a formidable undertaking) west of Fort St. John and to push northward some fifty miles.

The purpose of this branch presumably is to carry the liquid by-products of natural gas when it is refined somewhere in the St. John area. Such fuels as propane will travel by tank car to Vancouver.

But the main argument for a Peace River outlet to the coast has always been the need of cheaper and quicker grain transportation. At present all the grain of the most northern farm area of the nation—incidentally, the nation's finest wheat—must move southward to Edmonton even if it is consigned to Vancouver.

The largest question in the P.G.E. scheme is how much of this grain will move directly west through the mountains when the new railway is built. No one can be sure about that. Grain does not flow like water by the dictates of gravity or geography. Its movement is determined by complex and often incalculable marketing factors, most of them controlled by Canada's foreign customers.

In the case of the Peace River much will depend upon the future markets of Asia, which can best be served out of Vancouver.

Certainly the P.G.E. cannot expect to carry all the Peace River grain as much of it will continue to move eastward to the Lakehead at Fort William.

Whether the grain movement and the expected traffic in gas by-products will make the Government's total investment pay remains to be seen. Mr. Bennett is confident on this score, so confident that he does not regard the P.G.E. debt, guaranteed by his Government, as part of the provincial debt. The railway, he says, will carry its interest charges out of profits. The taxpayers will hope he is right.

Who Pays the Piper . . .

BRITISH COLUMBIA SCHOOL trustees, meeting at Qualicum Beach, have decided to ask the Provincial Government for greater control over their own affairs.

They have come to the conclusion, apparently, that they have not nearly as much authority over their schools and educational system as many ministers of education have suggested.

Ministers of education in recent regimes have made a strong point of non-interference with the local autonomy of school boards. The phrase sounds impressive. But there is more sound than substance to it.

School trustees of experience know that the curriculum is decided by the department. They know that teacher training is a matter for which the department sets standards. They have become increasingly aware that the style of school and its facilities are governed to a great extent by the approval of the department which, paying a large part of the costs, fixes certain requirements for physical assets. They have also noted close department surveillance of school budgets.

Trustees may still hire teachers, and fire them, for cause. They can decide within limits the uses to which schools may be put provided they do not interfere with curricular activities. They can also make certain additions to basic school standards and studies provided they pay for them. But the widely publicized "local autonomy" is strictly limited in its scope.

Some of this departmental control is obviously necessary. As long as the province is responsible for education it must have some measure of uniformity in the studies and facilities offered the students unless British Columbia is to abandon its hope of equalizing as far as possible the educational opportunities of the children.

Mr. George W. Rogers of Vancouver has some justification, however, for saying that boards are becoming "rubber stamps." In many respects they always have been.

But when boards call for greater control of their affairs—and presumably that means school affairs—they have one point to keep in mind. School boards and their municipal counterparts, the councils, are continually seeking relief from school costs. Usually they look to the province to provide that relief. And although Education Minister R. G. Williston is quoted to the effect that the Government "wants to be able to supply money to you" and leave the spending to local boards, it is almost invariably the case that the man who pays the piper wants to call the tune.

Smiles and Words

A DECADE FROM NOW, PERHAPS more, perhaps less, the recent words of Nikita Khrushchev, the leader of the Communist Party, may appear much more significant than they do today. For by then their real portent should be clearer.

The Soviet boss told Kremlin banquet guests a few days ago that "Russia's smiles are sincere, but this does not change our conviction that Communism will triumph throughout the world."

That belief, of course, is his privilege. It is not unexpected that he should continue to hold it, despite the new note of cordiality that preceded and has followed the Geneva conference.

But Mr. Khrushchev's following words contained the punch line.

"We will win," he declared, "but we will not have to go to war about it."

That is a comforting thought insofar as freedom from war is promised. But equally promised is unremitting effort by the communists to make their philosophy supreme throughout the globe. Must we expect, then, a lifetime of propaganda, manoeuvring, infiltration, agitation and other methods short of war, all designed to win the world for communism? That, from the chief communist's words, seems to be the prospect.

When the Soviet ambassador to Canada was visiting Alberta recently he made one statement that seemed to promise surcease from this sort of attack. He was quoted to the effect that communism might not necessarily be the best system for Canada; that we might do all right as we are.

That was an unprecedented concession by a Soviet dignitary. It gave hope that Russia might be satisfied with its present empire and settle down to domestic affairs. But Mr. Khrushchev's words arouse the doubts once again.

It has always been difficult to tell whether a bear is smiling or showing its teeth. There is nothing much in the current diplomatic situation to settle this problem.

The Changing Leaves

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

SO LONG, September dear. With all thy faults I love thee still. Incidentally, who was it who said "England, with all thy faults I love thee still?" "With" or "for," I forget which. Who ever he was, I don't like the sound of him. To begin with, he seems to think he has fewer faults than England has, and his lofty tone annoys me. For another thing, what sort of lover is he, to imagine you always love someone or something in spite of the faults? Quite often it is BECAUSE of the faults, some of them faults, and the lover is anywhere near capable of loving. To the pigs with this lofty but rather low patriot.

I love September quite as much for her faults as for her virtues. . . the falling light, the queer fall light, the note of sadness, the more sudden changes, the lack of ardor, and so on.

"How much I loved that way you had Of smiling most when very sad . . . That's September for you. November is merely sullen and gloomy, and full of all sorts of depressive psychoses. But September is sad in so lovely a way . . . when she wants to be."

I CALL her "she," naturally. I wish the biologists would stop teaching chicken-sexers how to sex chickens, and turn to sexing the months instead. January and March are male, February is female. April of course is female . . . nobody ever doubted it. May and June leave me guessing. July and August are male, far too much so . . . they probably spend half their time looking at their muscles in a mirror, and the rest of their time studying for their supplemental examinations in Physical Ed. September is female. October is male, and a glutton at that. November is an embittered old woman. As for December, it has too many characteristics to sort out right now. I will sort them out when the time comes. I will certainly not leave the task to a reformed chicken-sexer.

ONE of the very best things about September is that it can grow dark during your dinner . . . you can stifle off in daylight, and end, when the talk grows test, in candlelight or unit dusk, which makes the talk better still. When dinner and the day come to an end together, there is a sense of completeness. There is also an odd flexibility of mood. Or rather, a self-compensating, self-adjusting mood: so that sad talk is calmer and merry talk is less strident. Of course you can arrange to dine on the edge of the evening on any day of the year, if you want to have your dinner at times ranging between (say) 4.30 and 10.00 . . . thus driving to cancel most of your engagements. But in September the thing arrives naturally.

Without expressing an opinion, pro or con, concerning the subject matter of the present series "Why Johnny Can't Read" running in the Times, one cannot but be unfavorably impressed with the approach made by the teachers.

Their rebuttal is replete with all the scorn, sarcasm and personal bitterness one has come to expect of our pedagogues when they deal with a critic.

SUBSCRIBER.

GRANT FOR THE SPCA

The revelation in Monday's "Times" that the S.P.C.A. receives no civic grant, and has to pay taxes must come as a shock to many readers, and when we are informed that there are less than one thousand members of the society here, we should be ashamed.

The society performs an essential civic function, and is automatically called upon, and expected to render, immediate service by everybody, including the police, when occasion arises.

It should receive a civic grant. It should not be required to pay taxes.

DONALD H. SEYMOUR,
1140 Tattersall Drive.

WHAT ABOUT TAXES

Since Mr. W. A. C. Bennett was the choice for the leader of what has been described as the "funny" money group, many must have waited breathlessly for his announcement on economics—which of course is the other side of high finance.

What a golden opportunity was missed when the suggestion was made that we produce a ninety cent dollar, that is—internationally—which is utterly impossible, unless the occult forces of high finance so decree—the power behind the Mint as it were.

But—and it is a big but—Mr. Bennett and his financial advisers had—and have—it within their power to remove the five cent purchase tax, reduce the gas and oil taxes, and lessen all licence fees—which are all carefully garnered for them by a whole host of tax "farmers"—the legality of which has often been questioned. If the eternal cry of "give-give" and "take-take" were reduced to the soothing rhythm that "justice" could provide, Mr. Bennett and his league might yet become prophets in their own province, in so far as removing the yoke off the necks of all the hard pressed, in order to spread the "welfare" where it justly belongs—to the solid citizens.

The Bennett regime has proclaimed so many times that they are a government "of" the people, now it would be easy to prove that they are "for" the people, but, as a whole.

ELLEN HART,
Chippertfield, East Sooke.

SCOUTS AND EDUCATION

Scouting is not nor has it ever been a substitute for schooling. It is a device for supplementing the formal instruction of schools, by leading the boy into new fields and giving him a chance to make practical use of his powers intellectual, moral and physical. The best thing about it is its extraordinary diversity, reaching out to boys of all degrees of mental ability, in all kinds of social environment, and creating for them a real need to do their level best.

In Scouting we follow up the things that are taught the boy in school, by putting into practice the various things that the boy likes, by action and adventure, fun and games, by this method the boy gets something that otherwise would become drudgery to him.

It also gives a boy a chance to be on an equal footing with other boys, because of his own efforts, knowing that he can only advance by his own achievement.

In Scouting, we consider the community value of a Scout. The motto of the Scouts is "Be Prepared", that is prepared for service where it is needed. It is of little use to say that you will be of service if you have no practical knowledge of how to help in time of difficulties or of need. This is part of the Scouts training to Be Prepared for anything that might turn up.

SKIPPER.

JUST WHAT WE NEEDED

Hats off to Dr. Flesch, his articles are just what was needed, but what are mothers going to do about it?

The best local teachers seem to be able to do, is cover up the real issue with rubbish about TV commercials, super salesmanship and the rest.

If Dr. Flesch is what they claim, it's because he has something to sell: sound methods of teaching. What child, nowadays has heard of a vowel or knows his alphabet? Teachers deny it out. I'm sure mothers agree our youngsters are taught by the method Dr. Flesch describes and grade one students are not taught the alphabet nor the sounds of their letters. My own six-year-old can print Jane and Dick and pick those words out of any book, but does not know the letters each word is composed of. If this isn't learning from memory what is it?

I say teach our children the alphabet and its sounds, or are the teachers afraid this may mean a little more work and thought on their part.

ANOTHER MOTHER.

Jockeying for the Post

BY JOSEPH ALSOP, from Washington

IN Chicago at the moment, Adlai E. Stevenson and his growing troupe of advisers and managers are still arguing about just when he will make his announcement; about whether to do it in a press conference or in his scheduled speech to the Democratic National Committee dinner on Nov. 19; and about other such details. But these customary activities of an incipient candidate are now going on in a wholly new atmosphere. Long before President Eisenhower was so tragically stricken, Stevenson had made up his mind to go all-out for the Democratic nomination. His intentions have not been changed in any particular by the President's illness. His prospects, however, have been transformed overnight.

The reason for this transformation can be found in the political polls. Only a little more than three months ago, the inquiring Dr. Gallup tested public sentiment towards a long series of possible Presidential candidates.

His results showed Stevenson being roundly beaten by Eisenhower, by a margin of 57 to 40. But the same results also showed Stevenson trouncing the man who is now the leading Republican possibility, Vice-President Richard Nixon, by a margin of 56 to 35.

It is fashionable, of course, to mock the pollster. No doubt they deserve mockery. But rightly or wrongly, the practical fact remains that the pollsters have acquired very great political influence.

The late Senator Robert A. Taft would surely have received the Republican nomination in 1948 or 1952, if the polls had not run so consistently against him. The politicians wanted Taft, but the polls made him look like a loser.

WINNING LOOK

What has given the great flip to Stevenson's candidacy is the simple fact that he no longer looks like a loser. Instead, with a second term for President Eisenhower beyond the bounds of practical discussion, Stevenson now looks like a winner.

He will have hard competition, most probably from Senator Estes Kefauver of Tennessee. If he does not perform well as an avowed candidate, he may get, even more serious competition from Governor Averell Harriman of New York. Every other aspiring Democrat will also be longing to jump into the race.

But Stevenson is still front-runner. And if the front-runner also looks like a winner, he generally gets the nod. In other words, while his competition will be tougher, Stevenson has automatically become a stronger competitor. That is the simplest summary.

Meanwhile, the depth and darkness of the Republican dilemma is also revealed by the same polls. They showed Chief Justice Earl Warren running exactly even with Stevenson. The politicians agree with the pollsters that Warren would be the strongest Republican nominee.

But the Chief Justice has removed himself from consideration in the strongest statement he was able to write. Those close to him say that his opposition to putting the Supreme Court into politics would not be overcome by a personal appeal from President Eisenhower himself.

If Warren is out, therefore, the next place among Republican possibilities must certainly be accorded to Richard Nixon. The Vice-President has the affection of the President, which will certainly count for much, and may win the day for him. He has a great position, in which his duties will now become more important than ever.

Among the Republican politicians with truly national standing, there can be very little doubt that Nixon bulks largest after Eisenhower in the public eye.

Yet as of this writing, Nixon has got to perform two feats that will be all the more difficult because the performance must be simultaneous.

ANGRY RIVALS

First of all, he must secure the Republican nomination against angry and embittered rivals, not the least of whom are the two men, Senator William Knowland and Governor Goodwin Knight, who control the Republican organization in Nixon's home state of California.

It will not be hard for Nixon to get the nomination, to be sure, if President Eisenhower publicly sponsors him, as Theodore Roosevelt sponsored William Howard Taft. But if the President does not sponsor him, the Vice-President cannot go all-out for the nomination. As Eisenhower's highest subordinate, Nixon needs Eisenhower's approval before he can open campaign headquarters or launch into the other usual activities of overt candidates.

While delicately maneuvering for the nomination, moreover, Nixon must also try to win over those middle-of-the-road and independent voters whose preference for Stevenson is indicated by the polls.

This effort of winning over the middle-of-the-roads and the independents is in some measure inconsistent with the effort to win over the Republican bosses. So Nixon will need all his determination, astuteness and courage to realize the hopes that his friends already quite visibly cherish.

PARK AVENUE THINKER

At about 2.30 on one of those very hot August afternoons I was riding in a taxi northward on Park Avenue. Directly ahead was a people-packed station wagon. On its lowered tail-board was a mattress; and on the mattress a boy, perhaps nine or ten. He was lying in typical smallboy position: his left leg was bent, his right leg was crossed over it, his head hung outward off the tail-board so that any jolt threatened to toss him to the street. In his hands directly above his head was a book, and in this impossible position he was reading. Name of the book? "Why Johnny Can't Read."

—Alan Greens, in The Saturday Review

Unto the Pure...

YEARS ago, before the highway was improved, we used to drive into Duncan over a meandering road that crossed a casual bridge and entered the city through the Indian settlement.

Under the bridge the river flowed slowly between banks that sloped easily to the fields. There were trees near the water and beside one end of the bridge on hot summer days you could occasionally see small Indian boys swimming, naked as the day they were born and untroubled by their nudity or the people driving over the bridge.

I treasure the picture they made—a sort of "Age of Innocence" in an appealing local setting. And I contrast what I assumed their attitude to be with that shared by myself and our Foul Bay gang at the same age—something under 10.

UNPARDONABLE SIN

We went swimming one hot afternoon in a remote corner around the rocks from Rescue Bay. We'd chosen the spot because it was remote and because we had no swim suits. We were shocked by the cold water, but not nearly so shocked as we were when, looking up the bank, we saw a photographer taking our picture—and us with nothing on.

I remember rushing from the water, struggling into a cotton sweater and pants, picking up my boots and stockings and racing home barefoot to hide in the basement. It seemed to me we had been caught in an unpardonable sin, swimming naked, and that I could expect the policeman around any minute to put me in jail for my offense.

I still don't know where I acquired that sense of guilt. But it was there. The idea of being seen without clothes, even though we'd picked a secluded place and hadn't expected visitors, seemed about as immoral as anything I could imagine at that time.

You could say I was hypersensitive to the convention which placed a taboo on nudity. The little Indian boys I saw years later by the bridge outside Duncan weren't impressed by any such convention. I'm convinced now that the little Indian boys were right and that the convention which bothered me was entirely wrong.

PRETTY OBNOXIOUS

I've thought a lot about that convention. It's brought to my attention frequently by family members who object to the Gunga Din suit I wear to swim when nobody's around at Shawinigan. And while I'm no nudist, I sometimes think this would be a much more moral place if nobody wore clothes. Not that I intend to show the courage of my convictions with October's wind and rain on the way, or with the laws framed as they are at this time.

Still the whole convention of lack of clothes, or the way some of them are worn, seems pretty obnoxious when a person like U.S. evangelist Billy Graham can deliver the indictment he did against Toronto women recently.

"It's as bad as murder," he said, "to entice others to sin, to entice them to immorality. You women—many of you have dressed in such a way as to bring impure thoughts in the minds of men. And you have done it deliberately, may God have mercy on your soul."

It seems to me that Billy is trying to make the women of Toronto feel just as I felt when the visitor with the camera surprised our swimming party so long ago. What right he has to impute a deliberate motive to their style of costuming, I don't know. Maybe Mr. Graham doesn't need rights to do that.

But if he took time to think the matter over it's quite conceivable he would find he had been shooting at the wrong target. Isn't it the convention that's at fault, rather than the women who follow style?

Or if he's right, what do the ladies do? Retreat back to the mid-Victorian era and make very sure that their tabloids are long enough to cover the legs of the table?

YOUR HEALTH

Incidence of Several Diseases

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine Mayo Foundation.

In an editorial in the New England Journal of Medicine the writer pointed out that while paralytic poliomyelitis is always a terrifying disease, we in America must remember that there are other terrible diseases which are much more common, and about which most of us think very little and do very little.

As soon as we yearn of America reach into our pockets to help the 100,000 unfortunate victims of the paralytic form of polio, we must not forget the 200,000 other persons suffering from muscular dystrophy (with its paralysis of several muscles), or the 250,000 persons with multiple sclerosis (again, with paralysis here and there), or the 400,000 unhappy patients with active tuberculosis. Few of these persons would be coughing today if only years ago a parent had realized that he (or she) had the disease, and then had taken such precautions as would have protected his children.

We must all keep in mind the 600,000 patients with cancer; the 2,500,000 under treatment for mental diseases (we are not doing much for these poor people, except perhaps to lock up a third of them and give them custodial care. In only the best institutions in the land is there enough money available so that efforts can be made in the way of treatment). Let us remember that there are 7,500,000 persons with arthritis of various types (many more or less crippled and incapacitated for work), and let us not forget the 16,000,000 persons suffering from some form of heart disease, or high blood pressure, or hardening of the arteries.

REMEMBER THE OTHERS
I have pointed out this editorial not because I like to scare people (I hate to do that), but because I feel that we of America must all remember that while the suffering of persons with rare diseases tugs at our heart-strings and causes us to give large sums of money, we must not ignore some of the very common diseases such as psychosis, the bare mention of which annoys us and causes some of us to write angry and vituperative letters. Let us all remember if we are ever going to do anything for the millions of mentally disturbed people in this country, we must, all of us, face the problems involved; we must learn about them; and we must support those few men in our country who are now hunting for a cure.

This week there came to my desk a big, thick book (Neurochemistry, C. C. Thomas, Publisher), telling of the remarkable work now being done on the chemistry of the brain in health and disease. To my way of thinking, the researches described in this book have at last opened up a way to the understanding and treatment of insanity, epilepsy and some forms of mental retardation.

A great day may be dawning: What is needed now is money for special research institutes and for the training of more brain physiologists and chemists and surgeons.

EXTREME NEAR-SIGHTEDNESS

The child who is markedly near-sighted needs to be watched carefully by an expert because, every so often the shape of his eyeballs is likely to change a bit so that he will become even more near-sighted than he was, and in need of stronger glasses.

Some ophthalmologists advise the parents to take such a child out of school and keep him from reading, but other able ophthalmologists tell me that they know of no good reason for insisting on this.

All parents should note how near their children hold the book as they read. If the child starts holding the book close to his eyes, he or she should immediately have an examination made of the eyes. Out on the street, the mother might ask the child if he can see something half a block away. If he cannot see anything at that distance, his eyes must be checked.

One day when I was nine, I asked my father how a black cow had got into the yard next door. My father said, "That isn't a cow, that is a photographer with a camera and tripod, and a black cloth over his head!" In the next few days I had my first glasses fitted.

THRILLER—Described as a "thriller," a preview of the Arthur Rank presentation "The Night My Number Came Up," starring Michael Redgrave, left, and Alexander Knox, will be shown Red Feather canvassers at 9 p.m. Sunday in the Odeon. The preview is by invitation only.

Ceremony on Sunday Starts Chest Drive

A colorful, brief, flag raising ceremony at the Legislative Buildings at 3 p.m. Sunday, to be attended by provincial and civic officials, will signal start of the Community Chest of Greater Victoria drive for $210,000.

Sunday evening a rally of about 1,400 canvassers will be held in the Odeon Theatre.

A huge "Red Feather" thermometer, to show drive progress, will be erected on the Douglas and Fisgard corner of the HBC at noon, Monday.

First reports from the industrial-commercial division, which started preliminary canvass Monday, show larger donations than last year, chairman reports. The residential drive begins October 11 and the campaign ends October 22.

NEW FIRMS

Kenneth Wills and Bill McColl, co-chairmen of the division handling firms with 20 or more employees, said new firms have joined the payroll deduction plan, while Harry Gladwell and H. L. Alexander, heading the canvass of firms with less than 20 employees, said indications are donations will top last year's.

At the opening ceremony, bands of HMCS Naden and the Queen's Own Rifles, and a QOR honor guard, will take part. On hand as well will be representatives of the 17 Red Feather agencies benefitting from the Chest drive.

HOME GARDEN

By HILDA BEASTALL

Gardeners Must Keep Nightly Frost Watch

The full moon tomorrow may well coincide with a frost which will write finis to many of the tender vegetable crops.

Hilda

Pick all tomatoes, both ripe and green. Many will ripen after picking, and the green ones are good if cooked in thin slices with bacon. An alternative to picking the fruit is to pull the vines complete, and suspend by the roots in a fairly warm basement or porch.

Beans, both runner and bush, are susceptible to frost and should be picked. If the quantity of young beans is large, the most satisfactory way to use them is to cut them and store them in a crock of brine. Coarse agricultural grade salt is sprinkled over each layer of cut beans, placing a large weighted plate on the top layer.

All squash and marrows regardless of size should be gathered, mature pumpkins will, I believe, endure a few degrees of frost. I seem to remember seeing ripe pumpkins among the corn stalks on farms

CABINET TO MEET AT KAMLOOPS

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP)—

The provincial cabinet will meet in city hall here Oct. 20. The same day Premier Bennett and other ministers will participate in the official opening ceremonies of the new arterial highway into Kamloops.

In southern Ontario at Thanksgiving time. Use the immature squash and marrows in various ways within the next few days, storing the older ones for later use.

Corn on the cob, with its covering of silk and husk, will stand several degrees of frost without harm. Appreciation will be doubled for its fine flavor from now until Thanksgiving Day.

FOUR HURT ON VANCOUVER BCE JOB

Five Tons of Dirt Engulf Workmen

VANCOUVER (CP)—Four workmen were injured Thursday when a cribbing collapsed, sending five tons of earth crashing down at an excavation for a new office building here. Two men were completely buried in the slide at the site of the new B.C. Electric Co. office building in the downtown district. One man fell 15 feet but was thrown clear of debris.

Most seriously injured was Mike Homala, who suffered a badly dislocated shoulder and a deep cut over his right eye. His condition was described as "good."

Also hurt were: George Ungarian, 44, head and elbow injuries, condition good; Errol Ducey, rib and hand injuries, condition fairly good; and Dan Ewchuv, fingers crushed, condition fairly good.

WATERSHED TIMBER REVENUE EXCEEDS CITY ESTIMATES

LADYSMITH—Sale of timber on the Stocking Lake watershed has already brought more than $1,000 of revenue to the city of Ladysmith, city clerk and treasurer R. S. Wood reported to the council Wednesday night.

The watershed is being logged by Wibbly Brothers, who are paying $3 per thousand stumpage for cedar and $6 per thousand for fir.

As the area was thoroughly logged off a number of years ago, the return is larger than was anticipated.

North Saanich Highway Link Will Complete Marine Drive

SIDNEY — Two Nanaimo contractors are making progress toward joining East and West Saanich roads with a long-awaited link at the tip of Saanich peninsula.

Contract price for completion of the 1.1 mile road is $63,305. Employed on the job are Nanaimo Bulldozing Company and J. R. Barnes Ltd. of Nanaimo. No completion date has been fixed because of the large amount of rock removal to be done.

When completed, the road will be part of a 30-mile loop drive starting and ending at Royal Oak. The new link will give excellent views of Salt Spring Island, Satellite channel, and other scenic spots.

86-FOOT MONSTER KILLED

Whalers Make Bumper Catch

VANCOUVER (CP) — The west coast whalers struck it rich again this summer.

A six-ship fleet reached here Wednesday after half a year's work in the cold Pacific off the northern end of Vancouver Island.

The hunters snared 629 of the big mammals, one less than the record number caught in 1954.

For the most part, the whales it was another profitable season. Each blue whale caught meant another $153 put into a pool to be split later by everyone in the fleet. Each finback and humpback was another $30, sperm whales worth $83 and sei $45.

The harpooners also trapped their biggest prize ever, an 86-foot blue whale.

Water Problem Nears Solution

LADYSMITH—Problem of improved district water supply and proper pressures here are nearing solution, it was reported at the regular meeting of the city council Wednesday.

A tentative proposal has been discussed for supplying water to Saltair district, and the Saltair Water Board will be invited to attend the next meeting of the council to talk it over.

Notice of motion has been given to introduce a by-law which would increase local water rates, with 50 cents per month suggested as the increase for domestic consumers.

NEW MAIN

On the subject of the Ladysmith pressure problem, Ald. Alan Carey, chairman of the water committee, reported that A. R. Colby, consulting engineer, has recommended the construction of an eight-inch line running from the Stocking Lake main along Sixth Avenue to Buller Street, and connecting with the city system at that point.

This would bring the city supply in at the highest point in the system. Ald. Carey said, and should eliminate low pressure areas which exist in the upper portion of the system.

Cost of this line is estimated at approximately $12,000, which will be available by next spring. Other low pressure areas exist where too many homes are connected to small mains, and it has been suggested that these small mains be replaced over a period of four or five years on a pay-as-you-go basis.

INCREASE SUGGESTED

Ald. Carey expressed the belief that there would not be sufficient revenues from the water utility to carry out this program of main replacement and also take care of ordinary maintenance.

He asked for an expression of opinion on an increase in water rates to provide the funds needed for this program.

It was decided instead that the council would accept a notice of motion to introduce a by-law to increase rates and that discussion would be deferred until the by-law is introduced.

The Saltair proposal, as far as it has gone, is that a reservoir

NANAIMO—Xi Kappa Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority and the Central Vancouver Island Union Board of Health have asked the UBC board of governors to establish a school of physiotherapy at the university.

The only Canadian schools of physiotherapy are in Toronto, Montreal and Edmonton, the sorority stated, and the graduates are needed in their own provinces.

Saanich Protests Land Transfer To New RC School Near Hospital

A resolution protesting transfer of land by the Department of Veterans Affairs, to a Roman Catholic school near Trent Street, was approved by a majority vote at Saanich Council meeting.

The property owned by the Department of Veterans Affairs is adjacent to the Jubilee and Veterans' hospitals near Trent street, west of Lee avenue.

The private school wants the land for playground purposes.

NEEDED BY HOSPITAL
The Royal Jubilee hospital is protesting the transfer of the grounds the land is needed for future expansion of the hospital.

Mr. Masters, administrator of Jubilee, in a letter asked council to support the hospital's protest.

He explained the land originally belonged to the city which turned it over to the Department of Veterans Affairs for hospital purposes. The government now is planning to give the land to the private school, he said.

Mr. Masters said the land was needed "in view of the projected future growth of the city's population and in view of a possible advent of national health insurance scheme in years to come."

NOT NEEDED
Mr. Ronald Grant opposed the council's resolution, claiming the land is not necessary to the hospital. He said the playground would not interfere with the hospital.

Reeve Joseph Casey pointed out that when council granted permission to zone the property for school directors told council they needed no more property.

"Now they want to acquire more property," he said. "I definitely remember them telling me they wouldn't need any more land for expansion."

The reeve said if the land was transferred, the school could at any time build a 20-room school next to the hospital.

New Irrigation Scheme Approved For Kamloops

KAMLOOPS, B.C. (CP) — Members of the B.C. Fruitlands Irrigation district have voted 2 to 1 in support of a rehabilitation scheme proposed by Lands Minister Sommers.

At a meeting here Wednesday, the group endorsed plans for a capital loan from the government, repayable at 3½ per cent, to replace the present irrigation system installed more than 45 years ago. The offer stipulated that the total cost per acre to landowners would not exceed $18 a year.

Highways Minister Gagliardi told the meeting the province made the offer after the federal government refused to help.

RESTAURATEURS HIT B.C. LIQUOR SYSTEM

VANCOUVER (CP)—Delegates to the second regional convention of the Canadian Restaurant Association charged here Thursday that British Columbia's system of licensing premises for the sale of liquor is unfair.

Properly-run restaurants, delegates said, should be allowed to serve liquor; not just hotels.

Their solution to the problem includes taking politics out of the liquor licensing system and instituting a program of public education.

The three-day convention wound up Thursday night.

Zoning By-Law Tabled Again After 17 Amendments Passed

A 110-page zoning by-law, which has been in process of becoming law for at least four years, was tabled again by city council Thursday after 17 amendments were incorporated into it.

It was indicated another public hearing will be called to permit voicing of any public objection to the amended by-law.

The special council session, called to deal with the by-law following a spirited public hearing September 8, was keenly debated.

Ald. Robert Macmillan and Mayor Claude Harrison voted against every amendment.

"There isn't a single council member here that knows what the amendments are about," stated Ald. Macmillan. "Council hasn't taken time to study the by-law," he added.

INCOMPLETE
"You mean to substitute an obsolete by-law with an incomplete by-law," the mayor told Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

Ald. Edgelow backed Ald. M. H. Mooney, representative to the Town Planning Commission, who moved adoption of all the amendments but one. It was referred to the Town Planning Commission.

Ald. Mooney objected to the suggestion the aldermen didn't understand the by-law.

"Can Ald. Mooney tell us for instance the new regulations concerning auto courts?" asked Ald. Macmillan.

"I think I can," replied Ald. Mooney.

"I'll give him time to tell us," said Ald. Macmillan, sitting down.

"I don't have to," said Ald. Mooney.

He moved that the 17 amendments brought to council by TPC be adopted.

Ald. Macmillan pointed out that one example of regulation that the council was unknowingly passing was the fact that a 20-unit motel must have 5,000 square feet of parking area, while a 60-suite hotel required only 2,880 square feet for parking.

"That's an example to prove that council hasn't taken time to study it."

INVALID EXAMPLE
Ald. W. A. Pinfold said it wasn't a valid example.

"Anyone going to a motel expects parking space, but that isn't the case with everyone going to a hotel."

Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow agreed there were many things in the by-law "... that many aldermen do not understand fully. But the city staff has fully gone into this. If we don't do something, it makes the work of the staff harder—working with an obsolete by-law. There is nothing in this by-law that cannot be corrected. I would defy any town planning commission or council to bring in any by-law that won't need correction."

Ald. Pinfold said: "Copies have been in the hands of the Real Estate Board, the Builders' Exchange and the architects' association for over a year. None has come forward with a concrete suggestion—just objections."

"There has never been a complete by-law in anyone's hands," said Ald. Macmillan. "There are 17 amendments before you today."

The decision to table actual passing of the by-law was made after it was pointed out aldermen Austin Curtis and Don Smith were absent. A two-thirds vote is needed for final passing.

FURTHER HEARING
Mayor Harrison thought another hearing will be necessary before approval can be given.

"As far as I can see, they (the amendments) entirely change some parts of the by-law. The public should be heard again, if it can be allowed."

City solicitor Arthur Patton said he didn't think so and the mayor asked him to give a written opinion.

"The changes are a result of the public hearing and it's council's prerogative to make these changes," the solicitor replied. "You'd be wise to send a written opinion because it will be challenged," warned the mayor. "These amendments are not the result of the public hearing," said Ald. Macmillan. "The public has not been heard on them."

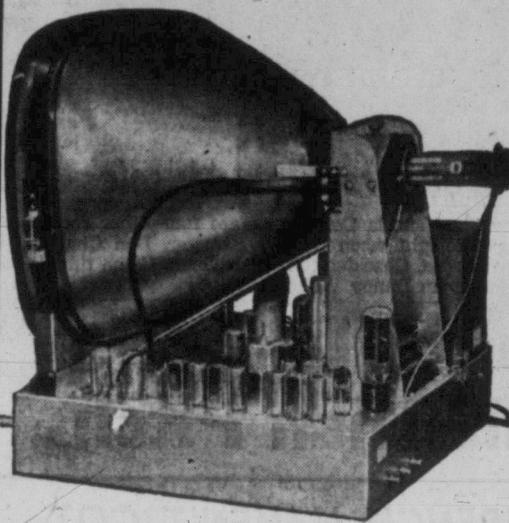

Decision on the hearing will be made by council at its next meeting.

The amendments, which Ald.

Mooney moved, and which were by-law, the rezoning of James Bay areas to halt apartment building in path of legislative expansion, was untouched by the amendments.

Soccer Season Opens

Two Games Billed On Saturday Card

Senior soccer will again return to the sports scene Saturday with two games scheduled for 2.30 in the Victoria and District Soccer League.

Defending champion Heaneys will meet rebuilt Vic West in a division one match at Athletic Park, while Canadiay Scottish and Dutch Wanderers will tangle in a division two contest at Windsor Park.

Sunday in division one, J.B.A. and Esquimalt will meet at Heywood Avenue Park, with the second division scheduling Brodie's Bakery vs. Butlers at Central Park and QOR vs. Tilliums at Windsor Park. All games start at 2.30.

The season will officially get underway Saturday afternoon at Athletic Park, when Education Minister Ray Williston makes the opening kickoff.

Division one this season will have all four teams back from last year, Heaneys, Vic West, J.B.A. and Esquimalt, while division two has two new teams, with a possibility of a third.

Along with Canadian Scottish, Duncan, Butlers, Dutch Wanderers and Tilliums, newcomers Brodie's Bakery and QOR have brought the league total to seven. Sooke may also enter a team in the second division.

HEANEYS STRONG

Powerful Heaneys will have most of last year's players back, along with four promising newcomers. Vic West, on the other hand, will be almost completely rebuilt. The club will have a strong flavor of youth, with holdovers Curt Lampert, Len Scott and Lionel Speller forming a nucleus of a squad made up mostly of juniors.

Lineups follow:

Victoria West—Jim Campbell, Harold Jacobson, Jim Caldwell, Curt Lampert, Herb Weatherall, Denny, Atkinson, Bill Booth, Fred Swift, Jim Pearson, Ab Singh, Dave Reddy, Ches Powers, Len Scott, Jack Milburn, Allan Curtis, Lionel Speller.

Second Place At Stake In City Grid

A battle for second place will be in the offing Saturday afternoon at 2 when Navy and Mayo Vampires square off in a Victoria Intermediate Canadian Football Union game at MacDonald Park.

Vampires, hard hit by injuries, are currently one point ahead of last-place Navy and three points behind league-leading Oak Bay Drakes. Navy, who have yet to win a game this season, tied the powerful Drakes, 5-5, in its last outing.

Ray Mitchell's Vampires, fighting to close ground on the Drakes, will be missing two key players for Saturday's contest. Kicking specialist Pete Ash has been sidelined with illness, while fullback Al Buchan is out with a shoulder separation.

Navy coach Frank Hindle has his troubles also, with elusive halfback George Kelly to sit out the game with a bad leg, while guard Walter King and fullback Bob Aitken have been bitten by the flu bug. Hindle's line-up will also depend on the number of ships in port Saturday.

On the brighter side, former Oak Bay quarterback Archie Langston has been fitting in well with the Navy's split-T attack, and will share field general duties with Joe Horne.

Kasparovitch Beaten in Global Final

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (BUP)—Majo Ueyehara and Chris Mancao walked two men with the bases loaded in the 11th inning Thursday night to give Wichita's Boeing Bombers a 7-4 over Hawaii for the global world series baseball championship.

Hawaii's Red Sox fought back from an early four-run deficit only to lose in extra innings when Len Kasparovitch, who had blanked the Bombers on two hits for eight innings, tired and loaded the bases on two walks and a single.

Ueyehara relieved Kasparovitch and walked pinch-hitter Gene Rogers on four straight pitches to force in the winning run.

(Kasparovitch pitched for the Victoria Athletics of the Western International League in the 1943 season.)

Final Cricket Match

Oak Bay and Five C's will meet Saturday afternoon at 1 at Beacon Hill Park in the final match of the Victoria and District Cricket Association's knockout competition.

It will be the final cricket match of the current season.

New Cougars Flex Muscles for V's

First test of the season comes for Victoria Cougars of the Western Hockey League tonight when they meet Penticton V's at Memorial Arena. Checking the physical status of rookie defenceman Danny Wong are four other rookies on the club this year, Paul Strasser, Don Chiupka, Reg Belliveau and Floyd Hillman. Game time is 8.30. (Times Photo.)

Byrne Tells All---He'd Rather Hit Than Pitch

BROOKLYN (AP)—Tommy Byrne is a frustrated pitcher who wishes he'd followed Babe Ruth's example and changed to an outfielder.

"I've always had ambitions to be a hitter," the wiry North Carolinian said after pitching and batting New York Yankees to a 4-2 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers in the second game of the world series.

"If I had it all to do over again—but it's too late now—I'd have been an outfielder."

Byrne, uncorking a strikeout-sure slider in the clutch, became the first lefthander in a year to go the full distance and beat the right-hand-power Dodgers.

Also it was his slashing single over short in the fourth which scored Elston Howard and Billy Martin with the runs which proved the final margin of victory.

"That was a good wallop," the 35-year-old castoff beamed proudly. "I liked it."

It's hard to draw out Byrne on his pitching prowess without being escorted down another lane dealing with bat work.

"I remember I batted 597 my last year at Wake Forest College, led the Southern Conference in hitting," he said. "I hit seven home runs at Seattle last year and batted in 49 runs. I think. Not bad for a pitcher."

Byrne is a lean, hollow-cheeked college graduate with a gift of gab—and on off the diamond—and a unique approach to his profession.

Shunted down to Charleston, W. Va., in 1933 after being discarded by four American League clubs, he thought his baseball days had ended.

"I was terribly wild. I was trying to blow the batters down with sheer power. So I got smart. I changed my pitching technique, mixed in sliders, curves and change-up stuff. And I learned I could help myself by using psychology in needing the batters."

As a result, Byrne was a winter sensation in the South American winter league in late 1933, winning 13, and a 20-game winner in 1934 with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League.

That's when Yankees brought him back to the big time.

FRENCH HAVEN'T GOT A WORD FOR THIS!

PARIS (AP)—Baseball? What's that?

No French language newspaper in Paris today carried a line on the Brooklyn Dodgers-New York Yankees World Series baseball game Thursday.

A CRICKETER VIEWS BASEBALL

Uncouth Compound Of Noise, Violence

By J. S. BARKER

NEW YORK (AP)—This ground (ball-park) Thursday reminded me forcibly of cricket's holy of holies, Lord's.

The world's best-known ball-club (baseball team), Brooklyn Dodgers, were facing New York Yankees in the second game of what Brooklyn refers to as the "world series."

To a cricketer, baseball is an uncouth compound of loud and vulgar noises and violence, players who insult each other and the umpires with vigorous impartiality, umpires who insult the players, and fans who insult everybody. But Thursday's game was as decorous—and pretty nearly as dull—as a meeting of the MCC selection board.

Mr. Junior Gilliam took first knock against pitcher (bowler) Tommy Byrne. Or rather, he tried to take first knock but missed three pull pitches in succession. The next batsman, Mr. Peeewe Reese, managed to hit one deep to mid-off, where he was neatly caught. A gentleman named Duke Snider promptly followed his example.

For the Yankees a Mr. Hank Bauer pulled a fast, inswinging full loss to deep square leg to score the first hit (i.e. base hit, i.e. one-quarter of a run). But Mr. Loes struck out the next batter and the catcher (wicket keeper) Campanella flashed the ball to second base where Mr. Bauer was ignominiously run out.

This is known locally as "a double play," and gets two men out with one ball. Before I had digested this oddity, a Mr. Irv Noren had been caught at mid-on, and the Yankees were out.

Four successive no-balls put Mr. Carl Furillo on first base, Mr. Gil Hodges was caught and this brought the great Jackie Robinson to the plate (wicket).

Robinson made a tremendous pull-drive to mid-wicket where Bradman-sized Phil Rizzuto took it calmly, with his back to the wicket. Mr. Loes then hit Mr. "Yogi" Berra with his next ball and Mr. Berra walked to first base. But, at least, he could still walk.

For the Dodgers Pee Wee square-cut an outswinger for a single, and suddenly they had scored a run.

The Yankees proceeded to score four their next innings—a feat comparable to scoring two hundred before lunch at Lord's. And despite Brooklyn's second run in the next (their fifth) inning) the game was obviously over—even to me.

Now, Let's See, for Coho . . .

The final angling event of the local season is set for this week-end, with the staging of the inaugural coho derby by the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association. Certain not to be caught short on information how to hook the finny ones is little Jimmy Gillie. Proceeds from the two-day event will go to the Cerebral Palsy Fund. Fishing is from 7 a.m. to 3 p.m. each day, with prize presentation at the Anchorage Sunday at 4.15.

Cougars Meet V's In Opener Tonight

Locals Spiced With Youth

Victoria Cougars take the drapes off their 1955-56 Western Hockey League model at Memorial Arena tonight with the world amateur champion Penticton V's as guests.

A rookie-studded club, the Cougars arrived in town last night from their Seattle training camp and held a light skating drill at the arena this morning.

Only seven players remain from the club which finished in second place last year. Two of the newcomers are proven performers while the other eight are in the rookie category.

Holdovers include goalie Marcel Pelletier, defencemen Bill Davidson and forwards Colin Kilburn, Wayne Brown, Doug Macaulay and Mark Marquess.

Coach Eddie Olson will be making his debut with the team, while the other established professional to join the club this season is centre Skip Teal, last year with Hershey.

The eight youngsters with the team are defencemen Floyd Hillman, Danny Wong, Bill Dobbey, Art Asleson, and forwards Don Chiupka, Roscoe Hornby, Reg Belliveau and Paul Strasser.

The V's will be a club that includes all but four members of the unit which last year defeated Russia in the world hockey final.

Heading the Penticton club is player coach Grant Warwick and his brothers Dick and Bill.

FORMER COUGAR

Other members include goalie Ivan McLelland, defencemen Dino Mascotto, Hal Tarala, Jack Taggart, and former Cougar Jack McInnes, forwards Ernie Rucks, Bernie Rathgate, Doug Kilburn, Jack McDonald, and Don Berry.

Additions to the club which has lost George McAvoy, Kevin Cussey, Jim Fairburn and Ed Kassian, are George and Frank Horbe and Art Hart.

League referees are also in town for a meeting today with WHL president Al Leader.

Dalton McArthur, a new official from Ontario, is expected to officiate in the game.

In two previous exhibition games this season the V's lost to New Westminster Royals, 8-7 and 4-2.

Game time is 8.30.

SCORES MANAGER WALT ALSTON

Zimmer Simmers At Being Benched

By MILTON RICHMAN

BROOKLYN (UP)—"I'm heart-broken," mumbled scrappy Don Zimmer, fighting back the tears, "and I'm plenty teed off, too."

The little Dodger second baseman had just been informed, grapevine style, that he was to ride the bench in the third game of the world series against the Yankees today, and it was difficult to tell whether the moisture around his eyes was more from disappointment or anger.

"He didn't even have the decency to tell me himself," Zimmer snapped, jerking his thumb in the direction of Brooklyn Manager Walt Alston.

"I had to get the news from the travelling secretary and from newspapermen. Ain't that something?"

"If I can't play, I don't want to be with this ball club. I've told 'em this before and I'll tell 'em it again. I mean it. I wanna play so bad it ain't funny."

Zimmer pressed his lips together tightly and stared down at the floor. Then suddenly he picked his head back up again and went on:

"Why is he putting me back on the bench?" he almost shouted. "Why . . . why . . . why?"

"I wouldn't mind if I loused up the game or something bad like that but what did I do wrong? I know I'm no Ted Williams but I've been doing okay at the plate. I got one hit in the first game and another one in yesterday's game."

"Before the second game I told my dad if I didn't get two hits I wouldn't play the next day. And sure enough, that's what happened."

Zimmer, who is batting .400 in the series so far, pounded his right fist into his left palm angrily and repeated his desire to be played regularly or to be dealt somewhere where he can have the opportunity of doing so.

"There's nobody on this club who out-hustles me," he insisted. "I mean nobody."

He then went on to tell how he had tried to get his problem straightened out with Brooklyn vice-president Buzz Bavasi before the current season even began.

"I called Bavasi on the phone when I found out I wasn't going to play regularly and I told him to send me to St. Paul," Zimmer said. "He said he couldn't do that because the club had an investment in me. But I told him investment or no investment, I wanna be some place where I can play."

Zimmer also recalled that a few days prior to the World Series Alston named one particular Brooklyn lineup "as the strongest one we have."

"If that was the strongest lineup he had, what has suddenly changed his mind?" Zimmer asked. "I thought I did all right in the series. So what if the Yankees are pitching right-hander now. I'd just as soon hit against them as left-handers."

Zimmer made two errors yesterday but neither was important.

MAGIC NOTE MAY RUN

Times Handicap Draws Top Field

Saturday, which will mark the half-way point in Sandown Park's 14-day race meeting, will be featured by the Victoria 'Daily Times' Handicap at one mile, which has drawn nominations from the best stock on the grounds.

Magic Note, Tommy Fenton's remarkable mare who won six out of 16 starts in Vancouver this year and over $11,000 in purse money, has been named, but her current condition makes it doubtful if she will go.

Her trainer, however, is one of the best in the business at getting sore-legged horses fit enough to run, and if she misses the race Saturday you will almost certainly see her in action by the meeting's end.

Others nominated for the $1,000 purse are Beau Sierra, three-year-old who packed 125 pounds to his first winning start here; Lucy's Doll, Cocos, Dimitri, Bob Away (the Whirlaway colt), Chic Bird and Pen Oracle, both winners here, and My Lands.

It should be a wide open race with a big edge going to the speed horse that has the luck of the draw.

Mrs. Stuart Keate, wife of The Times' publisher, will decorate the winner.

Another feature of Saturday's card will be a $1,000 claiming handicap at a mile and five eighths to furnish a stern test for the routers.

Probable starters will be Wheel of Fortune, London Airs,

Irvin Expresses Confidence Hawks To Be Contender

By T. N. MORRISON
Canadian Press Correspondent
WELLAND, Ont. (CP)—Dick Irvin, newly-acquired Chicago Black Hawk coach, returns to the National Hockey League site where he began his NHL coaching career 25 years ago.

But the situation facing Irvin as he leads his Black Hawks into the 1955-56 season is entirely different to the one in 1930-31 when he kept the Hawks in second place of the American section—the league was divided into two sections, a Canadian and American—for the second straight year.

Last season Chicago finished in the cellar for the second year in a row with only 13 wins in 70 games. The 1953-54 campaign saw Black Hawks win 12 verdicts.

SETS SIGHTS HIGH

When Irvin was lured to Chicago from Montreal Canadiens last May after completing 14 years with Habs, preceded by nine years with Toronto Maple Leafs, he said he would settle for no worse than third place in the coming season.

But with the Hawks' first game less than a week away, Irvin has changed his tune.

"I have seen statements to the effect that Boston, Canadiens, and Detroit are all first-place clubs. Since it appears as though there'll be crowding at the top, I'll settle for second place."

Acquisition of Irvin was only one of several moves made by Black Hawk owner James Norris to restore Chicago's badly-battered hockey fortunes.

MORE PLAYER STRENGTH

Other changes were the purchase of Buffalo Bisons of the American League as a farm club, a transaction that netted some 50 players, and the trade with Detroit Red Wings which sent Tony Leswick, Benny Wolt, Glen Skov and Johnny Wilson to Chicago in exchange for Bucky Hollingworth, Dave Creighton, Jerry Toppazzini and Johnny McCormack.

"The talent we are viewing at the training camp here and obvious improvement in the play of a number of players makes me believe we are going to cause plenty of trouble in the coming campaign," Irvin says.

"We can count 15 proven NHL players and will have five defence-men, one more than the club carried last year. All the boys are honest workers and while we started out here as a tribe of many colors, we're gradually working into a cohesive unit."

ROLLINS FOR GOAL

It looks as though Al Rollins is going to win the goaltender's position, according to Irvin.

"He has been playing well and, our scouts tell me, is showing a marked improvement over his work of last season's camp," the coach said.

Metro Prystai will centre the proposed "second line." At right wing will be Jack McIntyre and Johnny Wilson will be the left winger.

OTHER CENTRE MEN

Any of three prospects could centre the third line which will have Leswick at left and Nick Mickoski on right wing.

Skov, Larry Wilson or rookie Hank Ciesla, who joined Hawks from St. Catharines Teepees of the Ontario Hockey Association junior A league where he led the league last season, could wind up in that centre spot.

Gus Mortson, captain of the squad, Allan Stanley, Frank Martin and Wolt are almost assured of defence roles. Elmer Vasco, up from St. Catharines, has impressed Irvin at his blue-line position but he still has another year of junior hockey left. Whether he will stay with Hawks or go back to St. Catharines is not certain.

Irvin, who is not used to piloting a last-place team, sends his rejuvenated Black Hawks against Red Wings at Detroit Oct. 6 in the league opener.

Maybe someone should remind Dick that it's a long way from sixth to second place in the NHL.

Colwood Golf

Winner of the silver division of the monthly par competition at Colwood Golf Club Thursday was Mrs. H. G. MacKenzie with a score of two down. Bronze division winner was Mrs. D. Goldsmith, also with two down.

GREY CUP FESTIVAL IN KICK-OFF TONIGHT

VANCOUVER (BUP) — A $25-a-plate dinner honoring Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace is scheduled for tonight to kick off a campaign to make this year's Grey Cup festival one of the biggest sports spectacles staged in Canada.

The dinner will be sponsored by the city's Grey Cup festival committee and proceeds will go toward staging events lined up for Grey Cup Week. The game itself will be played Nov. 26.

More than 500 business leaders were expected to attend the festivities at which pheasant under glass was to be main course in British Columbia's most lavish dinner party in years.

KROL, COPELAND REUNITED

Lions Host Riders; Esks Can Cinch Title

By The Canadian Press
The Gold Dust Twins—two of Canada's greatest football players before the wholesale influx of American imports—will be back together again Saturday.

Joe "King" Krol, called up earlier this week to bolster Toronto Argonauts' kicking, and Royal Copeland will team up again when the Scullers tangle with Montreal Alouettes in a Big Four game in Toronto.

But it won't be like the old days when their passing-receiving combination led Argos to three straight Grey Cup victories. Krol will be strictly a punter. Copeland is an offensive halfback.

Elsewhere in the Big Four, Hamilton Tiger-Cats meet Rough Riders in Ottawa.

ESKS CAN CLINCH IT

Edmonton Eskimos will be trying to clinch first place in the Western Interprovincial Union. Their string of 10 straight wins without a loss already has assured them of a playoff berth.

Victories against Blue Bombers in Winnipeg Saturday and against Saskatchewan Roughriders in Edmonton Monday will give them undisputed right to first place.

The other WIFU games bring together Saskatchewan and British Columbia Lions at Vancouver Saturday and Lions at Calgary Monday against Stampede.

JACOBS DAY AT WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, needing a win to keep playoff hopes alive, are looking for a double celebration Saturday when they mark "Indian Jack Jacobs Day" at the stadium.

Lions' coach, Annis Stukus, took a page from the Edmonton book this week and has moved linebacker Byron Bailey into a full-back position to share the spot with Al Pollard.

"If this shift helps the team, I'll be the happiest guy on the club," Stukus said.

Ford Takes Golf Lead

HUNTINGDON, N.M. (AP)—Doug Ford shot a two-under-par 68 Thursday to take the first-round lead in the $15,000 Long Island open golf championship at the Huntingdon Crescent Club.

The United States PGA champion held a one-stroke lead over Al Brosch, a six-time Long Island champion, and Billy Maxwell.

Jerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., was one of eight players tied for fourth place with par 70s.

LOSES TONSILS

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont. (CP)—Bob Solinger, former Maple Leaf left winger now with Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, Thursday underwent a tonsillectomy which will keep him out of action for two weeks.

Four-Team Junior Football League to Open Play Sunday

HMCs Venture and Royal Roads are again expected to assert their one-two mastery over the Victoria Canadian Football Union's four-team junior loop Sunday when the 1955 schedule opens on two fronts.

Venture, league and playoff champions last year, will meet the improved Oak Bay Drakes at HMCS Naden, while Royal Roads will tangle with last year's cellar-dwellers, Mayo Vampires, at Macdonald Park. Both games start at 2:30.

Loser of only one game last year, and that to Royal Roads, Venture is again the team to beat this season. It will face stiffer opposition from the strengthened Royal Roads and Oak Bay squads, but Vampires, who nestled under the C & C Taxi label last season, have shown no promise of improvement.

Coach Joe Connor of Venture will have 25 of last year's 40-man team returning, with a wealth of material on hand from which to fill out the roster. The team will be heavier than last year, and faster in the backfield.

Key man in the double-oil-back attack will be holdovers Gary Logan, Fred Hallas and Norm Etheredge, with quarterback Chuck Thomas again at the helm. A new man in the backfield will be Hamilton high school star Don Wallace.

On the line, holdovers Denny Briggs, Ted Loney and Dunc Shelley will be bolstered by promising newcomers, Walter Bulbeck and Joe Vansantvoort.

The cadets from Royal Roads are expected to field a big, well-balanced club, led by holdover quarterback, starry Ron Binnie. Other holdovers include halfback Doug Brown and linemen Ross Wheatley and Doug Mills.

Two new ends, Chris Anstis and Colin Sangster, lead coach Bill Draper's promising turnout of rookies.

The Oak Bay squad, with a big line and a light backfield, has already shown improvement over last year. Crafty Willie Dawson will handle the quarterbacking chores, while plunging fullback Norm Dixon will also do the punting and place-kicking. Holdovers on the line include pass-catching Joe McDonald, an experienced end; centre Walt Jacques, 220-pound tackle Don Gillingham, and Louie Hilton, switching from end to guard. Promising rookie guard is Art Pike.

Little is known about Ray Mitchell's Junior Vampires for this season, but the last-place squad of last year is not expected to have improved greatly in either the backfield or the line.

Starting with Sunday, the teams will each play a six-game regular schedule, with the league champion and runner-up meeting in a playoff.

Socred Alliance? 'Fantastic' Says Drew

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—Progressive Conservative leader Drew has described as "fantastic" any suggestion there is a federal alliance between his party and Social Credit. He said a Duplessis-Drew alliance in Quebec is equally untrue.

Speaking to Penticton Conservatives Thursday night in the course of a western tour, Mr. Drew said the results of four recent by-elections indicate a trend to the two-party instead of the multi-party system.

Cowichan Council Scores Approval Of Overhead Line

NORTH COWICHAN (CP)—Municipal council has criticized action of the air transport board in approving an overhead B.C. Electric Co. high tension line from Saltspring Island to Vancouver Island.

Protests had been heard from the fliers aviation council, chambers of commerce and councils in the Cowichan valley.

Reeve C. A. P. Murison said if the purpose was to make flying more hazardous they "have certainly achieved their purpose."

Earlier this week the chamber of commerce condemned the overhead cable instead of a submarine cable as a serious menace to aircraft, particularly on Seattle to Alaska flights and Vancouver to the west coast of Vancouver island.

FIVE FINED IN QUEBEC FOR SMUGGLING NYLONS

ARTHABASKA, Que. (CP)—Four men and one woman have been fined for their part in what the RCMP described as a smoothly operating ring that smuggled more than $100,000 worth of nylon stockings in Canada from the United States. Two other men have been ordered to stand trial in Court of Queen's Bench.

All were charged with conspiracy to deal in smuggled goods and nylons.

Clovis Harnel of Sherbrooke, Que., was sentenced in court Wednesday to a fine of $1,000 or three months in jail. Lucien Houle and Fernand Toulouse, both of Woburn, Que., were sentenced to fines of $200 each or three months in jail. A similar sentence was given Yvonne Audet of Lac Megantic, Que.

A week ago Roger Gellinas of Victoriaville, Que., pleaded guilty and was fined $600 and costs.

LONDON (AP). — The income tax collector received a letter from an anonymous woman who said she couldn't sleep because of her unpaid tax.

She inclosed £10 and added in a postscript: "If I still find I can't sleep, I'll send you some more money."

85-MPH Chase In Saanich Brings $50 Fine

Eric Cecil Clarke, 4256 Wilkinson, in Saanich police court Thursday was fined $50 or 10 days in jail and prohibited from driving for one year when he pleaded guilty to a charge of criminally negligent driving.

Police said the charge arose from a two-mile chase which reached speeds of 85 mph.

Court was told Clarke was driving west on Interurban on Sept. 17 when he passed a car at Marigold and went through the intersection at 50 mph, failing to heed a stop sign.

80-85 MPH

He continued west on Interurban at speeds of from 80 to 85 mph, went through another stop sign at Wilkinson, made a right turn and just missed crashing into poles and trees on both sides of the road.

Police stopped the accused at Wilkinson and Glyn.

When stopped, the accused told police that if he had "floored the pedal" he wouldn't have been caught.

U.K. Magistrates Say Homosexuals Not Criminals

LONDON (Reuters). — Representatives of 5,000 British magistrates have recommended that homosexual conduct in private between adults over 20 should no longer be a criminal offence.

The recommendation, passed 11 votes to 33 by the council of the Magistrates' Association, emphasized that the council still considered homosexual practices as undesirable and dangerous, both for the individual and for the community.

But the council said that a change in the law on homosexuality would minimize the many opportunities open to blackmailers who take advantage of the penalties now imposed.

Two other bids were received. Allis-Chalmers, also of Lachine, asked $1,005,535, and Vancouver Iron Works, $986,863.

The same firms bid for a two-stage alternative contract on the same job. One, calling for delivery and installation of one turbine, and one penstock valve, resulted in the following bids: Allis-Chalmers, $513,042; Vancouver Iron Works, $517,802; and Dominion Engineering, $523,530.

Second stage of the contract, giving a six-month option for supply and installation of the second turbine and penstock valve, brought bids of: $469,054 from Vancouver Iron Works; $481,131 from Dominion Engineering; and $495,292 from Allis-Chalmers.

See this amazing Marconi value in small radios. And see the full range of high-quality Marconi radios, hi-fi, and radio phonographs.

We put it up to our engineers: To make Marconi a still finer TV, an even better buy in '56... Here's the result! To a chassis already highly respected by customers and competition alike were added the results of several radical developments from Marconi's electronic research lab, the largest of its kind in Canada. These advanced refinements have been incorporated in the new 1956 series:

- A new development in sound reproduction to give improved fidelity to even the lowest priced sets.
- An extra-dependable circuit that virtually eliminates interference.
- A new signal monitor; the control that enables you to adjust your set to precise signal strength from every available channel.

• All the other top performance features remain in the new Marconi TV line — including aluminum picture tube, turret tuner, removable tinted safety glass, automatic focus.

Plus unique "life-testing". This exclusive feature is yours with all Marconi Award Series models. It means that your set has been subjected to the most intense in-operation checks: that possible causes of trouble after the set is installed in your home have been eliminated. It is your assurance of consistent trouble-free performance from the start.

Now you can enjoy Marconi performance for as little as $199.95* See, hear, compare the new 1956 Marconi "Life-Tested" line at your dealer's. You'll want Marconi TV, too!

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Ald. Robert Macmillan says the other aldermen voted on amendments to the zoning by-law without knowing what the amendments were all about.

Ald. Macmillan seemed unhappy about this, and indicated he does not approve of people voting for things about which they know nothing.

This is a sign of political immaturity on the part of Ald. Macmillan.

Voting for things about which we know nothing is an inalienable right of every citizen, and the very cornerstone of democracy itself.

Surely Ald. Macmillan has been on council long enough to realize this is accepted practice, especially in aldermanic circles.

The news story reporting on the zoning by-law discussion says 17 amendments were voted for, and then the by-law was put on the table.

If there had been an 18th amendment, no doubt they would have repealed it and put the by-law under the table.

One of the contentious points in the zoning by-law has to do with the amount of parking space connected with motels and hotels.

It is too bad this is causing friction, because the whole matter could be cleared up immediately by a reasonable and practical attitude.

There should be no parking space whatsoever attached to motels and hotels.

Why should we, the hard working people of this small, under-populated city, provide parking space for rich tourists?

Let the rich tourists bring their own parking spaces with them.

A rich tourist who can afford a fish-tail limousine so long it is hinged in the middle to go around corners can surely afford a parking space to go with it.

Rich tourists from Texas, especially, arrive here in limousines of box-car proportions. And goodness knows Texas has lots of wide open spaces.

Let the rich tourists from Texas bring their own parking spaces, and we can take our chances on getting speared on a head of cactus.

Just one final thought on the zoning by-law.

I hope someone insists on an amendment calling for a zone where quiet is requested for the benefit of those who have retired.

This is of vital importance in Victoria.

Tomb Tappers' Curse Called Balderdash

Mythical curses on those who open Egypt's tombs is so much balderdash.

The man who says this is a medical doctor and archeologist who has grubbed around the Valley of the Kings with the best of them, Dr. Abdel Hamid Mostafa, now visiting here.

Dr. Mostafa, who comes from Cairo, wrote his archeological thesis on mummification, so he should know.

Excavation, he says, "is an exciting thing, exploring the unknown, back beyond recorded time."

HOLDS RECORD

Speaking of time, the doctor is a man of many parts. He holds the time record of 11 hours and 10 minutes for swimming the English channel from Dover to Calais in 1951.

He took part in the recent 32-mile Lake Ontario swim and was the last swimmer to be taken out before Cliff Lumsden, the only one to finish, captured the swim classic.

It's not the possibility of locating buried treasure which prompts archeologists in Egypt, says Dr. Mostafa.

"We are looking for the art, the facts of history," which are gradually linking up the fabulous traditions of ancient Egypt.

A dark-eyed slightly balding scholar of 31, Dr. Mostafa is a man of even more varied interests. He came to Canada to attend the World Scout Jamboree last month; is touring the country looking into railroad advertising and publicity on behalf of his government; heads the Cairo branch of the United Nations.

"I'm sometimes like a madman at home. In my office behind my desk are six phones. Every try talking on six phones at once?"

He says Egyptians are happy under the Nasser administration, but wouldn't comment on other aspects of Egypt's politics as "I'm not a politician, as such."

PAYS OWN WAY

He was Egypt's sole representative at the jamboree. "I've attended three world jamborees and three Rover moots throughout the world. I pay my own way," he says. He's been a Scout since a youngster.

And it was as a youngster he participated in the 100 and 400-metre swims in the Berlin Olympics in 1936. For this he received three gold medals from Hitler.

Dr. Mostafa likes mummies. He carries a miniature around in his pocket, which pops out of its tiny coffin when handled — to the great amusement of the doctor.

Morse Operator Signs Off After 50 Years at Key

One of the original Morse operators still living retired today after 50 years as a telegrapher, 44 years with the CPR in B.C.

He is George Upward, 66, 2765 Roseberry, who started with Western Union in 1905 and came here from Cleveland, Ohio, in 1911.

A gathering of co-workers and friends will honor the veteran of the telegraph at the Glenisland Hotel tonight. A dinner is being held in his honor.

Mr. Upward was a Morse operator in the days before radio when all the big news stories came over the wires. He has been the first to hear of major news developments, such as the Jim Jeffries-Johnson fight, early in the century.

An avid lawn bowler, Mr. Upward intends to devote even more time to the pastime in the future. He'll also "rest awhile, and perhaps take the odd trip."

Victorians Attend Wallace Farewell

Railways Minister Ralph Chetwynd will represent Premier Bennett at a $25-a-plate dinner at the Vancouver Hotel tonight to honor retiring Lieutenant-Governor Clarence Wallace.

The dinner is sponsored by the Grey Cup festival committee, and more than 500 prominent B.C. business and political leaders will attend.

Among those to be present from Victoria are Mayor Claude Harrison and Times publisher Stuart Keate.

Mystery Death Ruled Suicide At Inquest

Police Reveal Gun Located

A suicide verdict was rendered by a coroner's jury which inquired today into the death of 65-year-old Thomas Stanley Bayley, who was found shot through the head at his home on Old Esquimalt Road Wednesday.

The inquest was held before coroner E. C. Hart at Sands' Funeral parlor.

Bertha Tait, 1271 Richmond, a friend of the deceased, said Bayley, who was suffering from severe arthritis pains, drank heavily for about a week before his death. He appeared to be suffering intently from his illness, she said.

SLUMPED ON BED

Esquimalt Police Chief Gilbert Stancomb said he found a small .45 automatic revolver lying underneath a dresser beside Bayley's bed. Bayley was slumped over his bed with his feet on the floor, he said.

Chief Stancomb said it appeared to him the gun had been dropped there.

Dr. Douglas B. Roxburgh, who performed a post mortem examination, said there was no evidence of violence or marks on the body. The only exception, he said, was the bullet wound which entered through Bayley's right ear.

He said the wound could have been self-inflicted.

Five Injured In Traffic

Five persons, two of them children, were injured in overnight and morning accidents.

Most seriously hurt was Mrs. Han Chow, 738 Kings, who suffered head-injuries when struck by a car on Blanshard at about 9:15 p.m. Thursday.

St. Joseph's Hospital authorities reported her condition today as "fair."

Mrs. Chow and another woman, Mrs. Quon Shee Chung, 37, 2534 Wark, were both knocked down by the same car as they were crossing Blanshard in front of the new Island Farms Dairy near Central Park.

Mrs. Chung was treated at hospital for leg injuries and later allowed to return home.

Driver of the car was James C. Taylor, 2637, Graham. He was driving south when the accident occurred.

Two children required treatment following accidents while riding their bicycles.

Marlene Blackley, 10, 2567 Prior, suffered abrasions to both knees when in collision with a car driven by Edward S. Hall, 1064 Hillside, at Kings and Graham at about 4:12 p.m.

Stitches were required to close a chin wound of Gail Munroe, 13, 3040 Millgrove, after she fell from her bicycle at Herald and Douglas at about 5 p.m.

Mrs. Herta Bishop, 41, 412 Dallas, suffered cuts to her left ear when involved in a two-car collision at Bank and Leighton at about 10:30 a.m. today.

Biggest Sea Exercise Ordered for RCN Here

All Available Ships In 12-Day Operation

By MONTE ROBERTS

The entire operational Pacific Fleet will put to sea from Esquimalt Monday for the largest-scale fleet exercises in the history of the RCN on the West Coast.

Twelve fighting ships, plus auxiliary and supply craft, will take part in the exercises, which will continue to Oct. 15, off Nanos Bay in Strait of Georgia, and at sea near Swiftsure.

Nearly every phase of modern naval warfare will be covered in round-the-clock exercises.

Heading the fleet will be the Tribal class destroyer HMCS Athabaskan, with Capt. Paul D. Taylor, senior officer afloat for the exercise, aboard. Capt. Taylor is commander of the second Canadian Escort Squadron, and will be in overall command of the operations.

Only RCN ships left in port will be those undergoing refit or conversion work, including the cruiser Ontario, the destroyers Crescent and Sioux.

Working name for the 12-day exercises is "Full House," and they will cover nine separate phases:

Air-sea co-operation exercises with RCAF aircraft from Comox and Vancouver, and RCN planes from Patricia Bay.

Convoy exercises, in which ships will screen a simulated convoy and carry out anti-submarine hunt and kill procedures.

Anti-aircraft firing against drogues, and surface firing against towed targets.

Defence against air attacks from RCN and RCAF aircraft.

Torpedo firings from ships. Minesweeping, carried out independently by the three "Bay" class sweepers of the Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron. The sweepers will join the rest of the fleet for the final three days of the exercise.

The first 10 days of the operations will be carried out in Strait of Georgia, the final two days well out to sea from the Swiftsure lightship, seaward of the entrance to Juan de Fuca Strait.

completing the fleet will be Dundurn, Billow and Heatherston.

Athabaskan will leave port at 8 a.m. Monday, the other units following at intervals to rendezvous in the Nanos Bay area.

No comparable exercise has ever been staged by the Pacific Command, either in peace or war. It is in line with the expressed policy of Rear Admiral Hugh Pullen, flag officer, Pacific Command, to keep all ships working at sea as much as possible.

Ships taking part in exercise "Full House" are:

Tribal class destroyers Athabaskan and Cayuga; modernized Prestonian class frigates New Glasgow, Stettin, Jonquiere, Ste. Therese and Sussexvale (Sussexvale will join the fleet mid-way in the exercise, after minor repairs are finished); Bay class minesweepers Comox, James Bay and Fortune; and coastal escorts Brockville and Digby.

Among auxiliary vessels accompanying the fleet will be the minesweeper HMCS Nanos and the minesweeper HMCS Nanos.

Guilty Pleas On Liquor Counts

Guilty pleas were entered in city police court today for two youths charged with consuming liquor in the Churchill Hotel and for one charged with being in possession of liquor in licenced premises.

Eileen Shriner, 866 Craigflower; Gerry F. James, 866 Craigflower; and Ross L. Kennedy, HMCS Naden, were all remanded to Oct. 11 for sentence. No circumstances were given in court.

Victoria Hotel Co. Ltd., 1140 Government, pleaded not guilty to a charge of permitting a person apparently under 21 to enter licenced premises.

Hospital Officials Meeting in City

Delegates from all over Vancouver Island today are attending a two-day Island Hospitals Regional Conference at Royal Jubilee and St. Joseph's Hospital.

Annual meeting will be at Jubilee Saturday.

The group is comprised of representatives of all phases of hospital work and the auxiliaries.

Hunters Get Warning As 6 Fined in Court

The provincial game department today issued a strict warning to hunters that violators of the Game Act will be dealt with in court.

The warning came after a first-week check of the hunting season by Game Warden Bob Sinclair resulted in a total of $156 in fines and costs for six hunters.

A seventh man has been remanded for sentence.

Mr. Sinclair said today a check of hunters returning from the woods will be maintained throughout the season.

Charges laid in RCMP court regarding first-week infractions range from shooting of deer under age to removing plumage from game birds.

Removal of plumage from game birds brought a fine of $10 and $3 costs for Charles Thomas Cammille, 536 Tait. Game Warden Sinclair said the birds were skinned before being brought out of the woods.

Donald James Mooney, 363 Robertson, will receive sentence next week on a charge of carrying an air pistol without a firearms licence.

Norman Dixon, 2507 Foul Bay Road, was fined $25 and $3 costs for being in possession of a deer under the age of one year. The deer was confiscated and turned over to the Orphanage.

Truck Accident Sparks Action By Vic West Club

A committee from Victoria-West Community Club will investigate the use of Craigflower Road and Skinner Street by heavily-loaded logging and wood trucks, it was decided at a meeting Thursday night.

The club noted two such trucks have overturned near the Craigflower-Skinner intersection in recent months.

Latest incident occurred Thursday when a lumber-laden trailer truck rolled over at Skinner and Russell.

Driver of the truck, Melvin S. Harris, 480 Gairbair, escaped uninjured.

She's been at the home three years. "I felt my health going, so I came here, but don't feel too badly now."

The Damson plums are four pounds for a quarter and the larger, black diamond ones are three pounds for a quarter. Kallian prune plums are two pounds for 25 cents and sugar plums are 10 cents a pound and three pounds for a quarter. The large, bright golden egg plums are 10 cents a pound and three pounds for a quarter. If you're hankering for greengage plum jam or jelly, they are yours for 33 cents for two pounds.

Now to the vegetable scene. There are loads of locally-grown products just waiting to be placed on your dinner tables. Field tomatoes are 28 cents a

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

It often seems that the busier a person is the more things he or she does. Many famous doctors, lawyers, actors and writers have varied outlets for their energy and verve.

Outside of their careers they may paint quite well, or may play some musical instrument with real talent and certainly with enjoyment. These extra activities and interests enrich the soul.

The woman in the home is not noted for developing the varied facets of her nature. She is more apt to get into a rut than the man or the career woman. I believe that this is true because her job is so all-consuming in time and in interest that she fails to think of herself as an individual and is apt to live mostly through the lives of her family.

This is an unselfish and heartwarming way to live, however it is a mistake to lose sight of oneself as an individual, or to fail to develop interests and hobbies which are entirely separate from housekeeping and family.

Those without any special talent or skill may ask—what new interests or hobbies shall I pursue? Why not start your "new life" by reading. Reading can be a fine hobby, which many indulge in, and your reading will undoubtedly put you on the track of something you wish to actively take part in. A book on antiques, for instance, may start you on this fascinating hobby.

Giving yourself over to an interesting activity will help you develop as an individual. Consequently, you will have more to offer your family in enthusiasm, understanding, variety and verve.

The richer your nature the more you enrich the lives of those with whom you come in contact. Sameness in interest and daily routine leads to boredom, to lack of enthusiasm, to dullness, even to poor health.

Nothing is so physically vitalizing as keen interest, love, optimism, gaiety and hope. They oil our "insides" with some magic potion, they speed up circulation and can even pull us out of pessimistic physical posture. No one can possibly measure what a far reaching effect such emotions have on health, and they certainly paint daily life in vivid colors!

So if you are a homemaker, one who is shut off from many outside contacts, be sure that you avoid the rut which will catch you unless you add new interests to your life.

Woman Expert on Labor Laws Knows Unions and Bosses

OTTAWA (CP)—Edith Lorentsen, a soft-spoken Saskatchewan woman of Scandinavian origin, is an expert on labor legislation.

She started in this field in 1949 when she joined the labor department's legislation branch. Since last year she has been head of the branch.

Miss Lorentsen is an authority not only on the labor laws of Canada but those of other countries as well. One of her main jobs is collecting and analyzing information on labor legislation and supplying it to labor unions and management.

"We won't undertake to advise what is good or bad," she says, "but we might point out what past experience has been."

Miss Lorentsen, Canadian-born daughter of Danish parents, started out as a secretary in Saskatoon. In 1942, she joined the wartime trek to Ottawa and landed a job in the National Selective Service.

From 1947 to 1949 she was involved in the labor depart-

National Women's Club Plans Memorial for Rica Farquharson

TORONTO (CP)—The Canadian Women's Press Club on Thursday announced plans to establish a scholarship in honor of the late Rica McLean Farquharson, a long-time member of the club.

The club is sponsoring a theatre night Saturday, at which one of her plays, "Sure of a Fourth," will be produced.

Mrs. Farquharson was the wife of Robert A. Farquharson, former managing editor of the Toronto Globe and Mail and now information officer at the Canadian embassy in Washington.

Mrs. Farquharson died last February. She won a Canadian Women's Press Club award in 1942 for the best story of the year and in 1938 received the medal given by the lieutenant-governor of Ontario for the outstanding play of the year. A former editor of the Canadian Home Journal, Mrs. Farquharson worked at one time for the Regina Post (now the Regina Leader-Post).

YWCA's New Director

Friendly, bright-eyed Elsie Purcell tackles new job with enthusiastic vim.

By TERRY FRENCH

Victoria's YWCA has a new executive director. And a very charming and attractive one, too. She is Mrs. Elsie Purcell, formerly of Guelph, Ont., a graduate of University of Toronto's School of Social Work, and the mother of a 20-year-old daughter, Margaret. Mrs. Purcell arrived in Victoria this week prepared to make her home here and she's now in the process of finding a suitable house or apartment. As executive director of the "Y," she will assume the responsibility for all work of the organization, including services in the community, direction of staff and wants and needs of residents and non-resident girls and women. Mrs. Purcell has spent 12 years in social work, her former position being executive director of the Children's Aid Society in Ontario. She has done part-time work with the YWCA, but this is her first full-time connection with the organization. Before making any statements as to her plans for the "Y," she said: "I must see what the community wants first. Each community is different. My job will be to help people to effect the type of plans they themselves need and want."

She went on to explain that the achievement of any goals will require consultation and work with church and recreational groups in the city. Miss Margaret Purcell, daughter of the new executive director, is at present in her final year in Arts at Queen's University at Kingston, Ont. Her mother expects she, too, will turn to social work when she finishes. Last summer was spent working in Brantford, with the children's service there. "She might even get into 'Y' work," Mrs. Purcell smiles. The answer to the inevitable question as to her impression of Victoria? She loves it, and was surprised at the abundance of flowers, in spite of Chamber of Commerce boasts. This was her first sight of the mountains, and she doesn't plan to get out of "seeing distance" for a long time. She has completely "pulled up stakes" in Ontario, so besides settling into a new job and finding a new home, she will be quite occupied with refurnishing her home, too. No doubt, the fact that she has a young daughter, in the same age group as many "Y" girls, will assist and help qualify her for her responsible position.

NEW YORK GIRL SCOUTS ADOPT 'GRANDPARENTS'

NEW YORK (UP)—More than 500 elderly men and women have been "adopted" by teenage girls here in a unique project that is beginning to spread to other parts of the nation.

As adopted grandparents the old people suddenly find themselves getting cards on their birthdays, candy on Easter, unexpected visits from youngsters and even a night out now and then.

One grandfather became so popular that the girls' parents began including him in family outings. "It is one of our most successful projects," a girl scout official said. Girl scout troops in the metropolitan area started the grandparent adoptions five years ago, but only recently have inquiring letters begun to come in from other cities and suggestions that this might be at least one answer to the increasing old-age problem.

Oil Industry Draws Many Women Workers Into New Fields

NEW YORK (AP)—Tired of the same old ladylike job? Go into the oil business, girls, advises Edna Hurry, newly-elected president of the Desk and Derrick Clubs of North America. There are at present 9,000 members of this unique organization composed of women working in the oil industry. During their recent convention in New York, 900 of the girls represented clubs in 30 states and three Canadian provinces. Jobs held by these women range from presidents of oil companies to secretaries and file clerks. "We have a lot of girls who are engineers, geologists and chemists working in the oil business," says Miss Hurry, whose own job is in the personnel department of a New Jersey Oil Company. "Even those who have desk jobs find there's never a dull moment. Things just seem to happen in the oil industry."

Heads Project Aimed at Change in New Brunswick Schools of Nursing

OTTAWA (CP)—Edith Kathleen Russell of Toronto, who has come out of retirement to direct a study of New Brunswick nursing education, is a graduate nurse, teacher, social worker and holder of an honorary degree of doctor of laws. A native of Windsor, N. S., and graduate of King's College, Halifax, she was director of nursing at the University of Toronto for 32 years. The 66-year-old, scholarly-looking woman now will head up a project, sponsored by the University of New Brunswick, Fredericton, N. B., which will explore ways of re-organizing nursing education in the province.

The federal health department, which is contributing $8,441 towards the study, says her job will be to try to find ways of developing "a highly skilled professional nurse" and "a form of nursing education more likely to compete favorably with other types of professional education for young women."

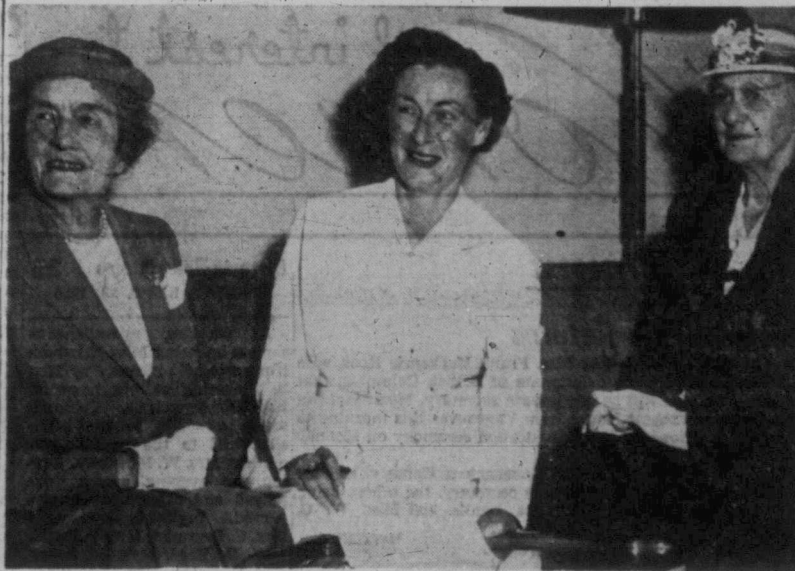

Ottawa nurses say Miss Russell is a logical choice for the task. The studious nurse, whose frail appearance belies her energy, was a member of the committee which organized Canada's first national survey of nursing education 25 years ago.

Her honors include the Mary Agnes Snively Award of the Canadian Nurses' Association in 1940, the Florence Nightingale Medal from the international committee of the Red Cross Society in 1950 and an honorary doctorate conferred by her alma mater in 1930. The Florence Nightingale Medal, instituted in 1912, is conferred biennially upon nurses who have rendered conspicuous service in war or disaster or who have made other notable contributions to the common good. She was the sixth Canadian to receive the decoration. She was awarded the Agnes Snively Medal for her contributions to Canadian nursing education.

In 1942 the Canadian Red Cross Society chose her as its nursing consultant. Since her retirement from her University of Toronto post she made an evaluation of the teaching program of the University of Saskatchewan nursing school in Saskatoon and has been active in Toronto welfare work.

Miss Russell entered the Toronto General Hospital's school of nursing in 1915. After graduation from the nursing school she studied at the University of Toronto's social service department and acquired the university's social work diploma. She also holds a B.Paed. degree from Toronto university.

After a year's supervisory experience with the Toronto public health department she was appointed director of the university's new public health nursing department in 1920. She organized the present school of nursing in 1933 and retired as its director in 1952. Florence H. M. Emory, then her associate director, described Miss Russell's philosophy of education at the time of Miss Russell's retirement.

Taking a Part in Alumnae Bazaar

Mrs. M. W. Thomas, left, and Miss E. Vantreight, right, will be among tea pourers at the fall bazaar sponsored by the Alumnae Association, Royal Jubilee Hospital, next Wednesday afternoon in the Nurses Residence from 2 until 5 p.m. Mrs. E. Hayman, centre, alumnae president will receive guests. Mrs. Ray Williston wife of the Minister of Education, will open the affair. Other tea pourers will be Miss Lucie Woodrow, Mrs. E. J. Harwood, Miss E. Herbert, and Miss B. V. Bergston. There will be stalls of home cooking, aprons, children's clothing, fancy work and novelties, candy, white elephant, plants and cut flowers and used books. Mrs. J. E. Owen is general convener.

How Can Harmony Arise From Opposing Values?

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, PhD

To be congenial and happy together, people must have similar interests and values. When they lack these, they are likely to look at life so differently that they will constantly clash. That is what I tried to explain to the young woman who wrote: (Q)—"I became engaged to a wonderful young man just a month ago. Last night, out of the clear, he told me we didn't want the same things in life, that our values were different, and that we could never be happily together. I told him that love was all that was needed to make two people happy but he can't see it that way. He asked me to free him but I refused because I think this is just a case of cold feet and that he will get over it. Am I wrong about this?"

Hurlock

(A)—From what you said, you are dead wrong. You do not explain what the young man meant when he said that you "didn't want the same things in life" and that your "values were different." It is quite apparent that he has reason to feel that you will not be congenial and that your marriage has little chance for success.

No two people, of course, want exactly the same things in life. However, if they are to live together harmoniously and be happy, they must want much the same things. For example, if this young man wants success and realizes that success can be achieved only by hard work and personal sacrifices, you would be very unhappy if you wanted to have fun, a gay social life, and the constant companionship of your husband when he was not on the job.

Similarly, if money in the bank, available for any emergency, is important to him, while to you, having expensive material possessions is important, think how you would clash whenever the question of money arose.

This young man is right in wanting to end your engagement if he is convinced that you and he do not see eye to eye; or if he has reason to believe that you will continue to want different things from life. Love is not enough to make people happy. They must be congenial in interests and values. This seems to be lacking in your case.

Interior of Home Expresses Character—Not Exterior

MONTREAL (CP)—Philip Gollob, Montreal interior decorator, says that today one must go beyond the front door of a house to find the real character and personality of its occupants.

The 27-year-old designer, who attended the New York School of Interior Design and the Parsons School of Design, says that in the past people used to spend disproportionate amounts on exteriors at the expense of interiors.

But he says this trend is disappearing. People are realizing more and more the influence of immediate surroundings on the individual.

Mr. Gollob expressed concern over the lack of competent training schools in Canada. "In the schools where I studied in the States," he said, "I was surprised to notice that almost a third of the students were Canadians. There is not a single university here that carries a faculty course in interior designing nor are there any institutions in that field whose standards are comparable to those set by our neighbors."

Coffee Prices Up 4-5 Cents

Retail price of coffee has jumped four or five cents a pound in some Victoria stores. Others are still selling at the old price.

A leading Victoria wholesaler said the wholesale price went up about five cents last week and has now reacted on retail prices.

Stores still selling at the old price are able to do so because of surplus stocks on hand but the increase is expected to become general soon.

"The coffee market is strong and there probably will be another rise in price before the market levels off—probably in mid-November," the wholesaler said.

Tribal Law Saves Indian in Prairie Trial for Murder

HUMBOLDT, Sask. (CP)—Ancient tribal custom played its part here Thursday in the acquittal of a 17-year-old Indian youth of a charge of murder.

A Court of Queens Bench jury deliberated less than an hour in bringing in the "not guilty" verdict that freed Billy Peequaquat.

A resident of the Nut Lake reserve, Peequaquat was charged with the rifle slaying of a friend, Tommy Cheechan, March 30 when the latter is alleged to have tried to lure away Peequaquat's 15-year-old common-law wife.

In reaching its verdict, the jury took into consideration tribal customs which recognize the girl as Peequaquat's wife despite the fact that no Christian marriage had taken place. The reserve is considered a pagan reserve.

WINNIPEG (CP)—CCF organizational plans for the next federal election were mapped out at a three-day national organizational conference which concluded here Thursday.

Under the chairmanship of Hazen Argue, Member of Parliament for Assiniboia, the meeting brought together provincial secretaries and organizers and chairmen of organizing committees.

Lorne Ingle CCF national secretary, said in a statement following the conference that these organizational leaders will return to their respective provinces to intensify CCF activities in accordance with the over-all plan thrashed out in Winnipeg.

The conference decided to hold regular conventions dealing exclusively with organization.

Delegates at the conference included: British Columbia, Harold Thayer, provincial secretary; George Home, chairman of organizing committee, and Ron Riley, field organizer, Alberta, Mrs. Nellie Petersen, provincial secretary, and Bill Irvine, provincial organizer, Saskatchewan, Russ Brown, member of the provincial legislature and provincial secretary, and Magnus Eliason, provincial organizer, Manitoba, Lloyd Stinson, MLA and provincial leader; Donovan Swales, MLA and provincial secretary; Stanley Knowles and William Bryce, Members of Parliament, and Ed Smee, provincial chairman.

WHY JOHNNY CAN'T READ

Today's Reader Not as Good As Yesteryear's, Says Expert

By RUDOLF FLESCH

What is now commonly known as a reader is not at all the kind of thing a reader used to be 30 or 40 years ago. In those days a reader was simply a collection of reading matter suitable for children in school.

Today a reader is something entirely different. It is a special tool for fixing a "sight reading vocabulary" in children's minds. This "sight reading vocabulary" is the essence of the word method of teaching reading. The word method therefore hinges on the use of those readers. Without the readers, the word method cannot be used at all.

According to the basic theory of the word method, children learn to read by looking at words again and again until they know them by sight. It is therefore necessary to make them fix their eyes repeatedly on certain predetermined words.

For example, during first grade a reading "expert" decides to give them, say, 400 words. He draws up a list of those 400 words and then proceeds to write a book of "stories" containing no word outside that list and repeating each one of the 400 words as often as possible.

He then repeats the process for the second-grade reader of his series; he adds another 400 words to the first 400, draws up a list of those 800 words, and writes a somewhat fatter book of "stories" staying within his 800 word limit and repeating each of the 800 words to the utmost.

AND ON AND ON
 Now he goes on to his third reader. Another 400 words are added; the list now contains 1,200 words; the book is again a little fatter and now contains the maximum variations upon the 1,200 words. The "expert" proceeds in the same manner with his fourth reader, his fifth reader, and his sixth reader, and winds up with a package suitable for handsome annual sales.

At this point you may possibly doubt the accuracy of my figures. Let me therefore say right here that I checked the vocabulary contents of the two leading sets of readers, Scott, Foresman Company and Macmillan Company. (This proved to be a very easy research job since all elementary textbook houses proudly include vocabulary statistics in all their readers.)

The Scott, Foresman set includes 1,280 words in the first two grades, reaching the grand total of 1,778 words at the end of third grade. The Macmillan Company, however, is ahead of the game by a considerable margin. The latest edition of their set of readers is pared down to not more than 1,284 words by the end of third grade.

It is important to add that the trend is definitely toward fewer and fewer words.

HOW IT WORKS
 The effect of this in the classroom is best described in the words of Professor Gertrude Hildreth of Brooklyn College, author of "Teaching the Three Rs," who seems to be one of the pioneers in the great vocabulary-cutting movement. Professor Hildreth is the senior author of a set of readers that gets along with 1,147 words for the first three grades.

"Experience has proved," Dr. Hildreth writes, "that keeping the vocabulary of new words relatively small—even a little below the children's demonstrated assimilation threshold—without neglecting the other important factors, virtually revolutionizes the teaching of primary-grade reading. A teacher in a southern state reports that the use of books with simplified vocabulary has cut down reading difficulties in the first three grades by 75 per cent. Second grade teachers, particularly, find the teaching of reading a joy instead of a chore when word difficulties are reduced."

IT'S A CINCH
 In other words, teaching children 1,147 words in three years is a cinch. Never-mind the fact that those third-graders can't read a single blessed book and are unable to decipher a simple note to the milkman—what does it matter as long as the teacher's work is now a joy instead of a chore?

Possibly, however, these figures don't look as ridiculous to you as they actually are. How many words should a child know when he has reached the end of third grade?

To answer that question, I must point out to you that the question itself is meaningless when you teach reading by the phonetic method. In that case, you take about two years to give the child such a thorough knowledge of letters and sounds that he can read virtually anything. Then if you want to, you take a third year for review, making 100 per cent sure that the child knows all the important phonetic principles and exceptions.

So your third-grader will be able to read whatever interests him, whether the vocabulary range is 1,200 words or 5,000 words or 40,000 words.

The vocabulary range of the reading material he can master will therefore depend not on the number of "sight" words he has learned—he hasn't learned words, he has learned how to read—but on the number of words he knows by sound.

ASTONISHINGLY HIGH
 That number, according to the researches of the late Dr. S. S. S. of Northwestern University, is astonishingly high. It is, for a third-grader, 44,000 words. Maybe the figure is too large.

Maybe the average third-grader's vocabulary is only 34,000 or 24,000 or even 14,000. Whatever it is, there is not the slightest doubt that it is at least 10 times as large as the number of words he learned to read in school by any of the methods now in use. After three years of "learning to read" he is totally unable to decipher 90 per cent of his own speaking and listening vocabulary when he sees it in print.

and third grade teachers, particularly, find the teaching of reading a joy instead of a chore when word difficulties are reduced."

It is important to add that the trend is definitely toward fewer and fewer words.

HOW IT WORKS
 The effect of this in the classroom is best described in the words of Professor Gertrude Hildreth of Brooklyn College, author of "Teaching the Three Rs," who seems to be one of the pioneers in the great vocabulary-cutting movement. Professor Hildreth is the senior author of a set of readers that gets along with 1,147 words for the first three grades.

"Experience has proved," Dr. Hildreth writes, "that keeping the vocabulary of new words relatively small—even a little below the children's demonstrated assimilation threshold—without neglecting the other important factors, virtually revolutionizes the teaching of primary-grade reading. A teacher in a southern state reports that the use of books with simplified vocabulary has cut down reading difficulties in the first three grades by 75 per cent. Second grade teachers, particularly, find the teaching of reading a joy instead of a chore when word difficulties are reduced."

So your third-grader will be able to read whatever interests him, whether the vocabulary range is 1,200 words or 5,000 words or 40,000 words.

The vocabulary range of the reading material he can master will therefore depend not on the number of "sight" words he has learned—he hasn't learned words, he has learned how to read—but on the number of words he knows by sound.

WHY JOHNNY CAN'T READ

Basic, Supplementary Texts Adequate, Teachers Insist

By LOCAL TEACHERS

Dr. Flesch gives his readers nothing that is new in this chapter. Much space and many words are used to give us nothing more than a repetition of his magic formula: Teach the child all the phonetic combinations during the first two years of school and—Presto—the job is done. The child can read anything.

In a manner typical of modern advertising Dr. Flesch repeats and repeats, pounds and pounds, relentlessly, the same idea packaged in new phrases until the prospective customers are forced to buy in self-defence.

We do not disagree entirely with Dr. Flesch. We do believe in the teaching of phonics. We do teach reading by the phonetic method. Our stand in this regard has already been stated. However, we do not approve of the sweeping statements which he uses as he attempts to prove his point.

Dr. Flesch states that children taught entirely by the quotation out of context and interpret it as he wishes; to use for his own purpose; to fail to investigate fully the circumstance which prompted the statement. It's a cinch, alright.

BUT IS IT FAIR?
Did Dr. Flesch take the trouble to find the extent of the original vocabulary which was simplified? Did he take the trouble to find the extent of the simplified vocabulary? Perhaps he did but he doesn't tell us about it. That wouldn't suit his purpose. That wouldn't sell his book. No, it wouldn't be a bit exciting.

Dr. Flesch has an attractive style of writing. He is most interesting. He will gain many

Teen-age Mail

By DOROTHY RICKER

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am 15 and in the 10th grade. About a month ago I went out with a boy for the first time and told him I was 17 and a senior in high school. He is 20, single and in the service. My mother does not want me to go out with boys until I am out of school. Therefore I had to tell her I was going somewhere else so I could meet this boy.

We met in a restaurant near my home and went for a ride. Later we parked and started drinking. He was smart enough to let me get very tight while he only pretended he was drinking with me. As a result we did some heavy necking. Now he has asked me to go out with him again. I have already made plans as to how I can do it. But I don't like the idea of sneaking out with him and would like to have him meet my mother. What would you do in my case? I promise I will follow your advice.

A SNEAK

Dear "S":

I doubt that you will "follow my advice" but I sincerely hope you will. As you know, in most cases I make a special effort to understand and sympathize with the teen-ager's point of view. However, when I receive a letter like yours, it disturbs me very much and I find it impossible to offer the kind of solution you would like to have because you, apparently, are not even aware of your real problem.

It is not how to get your mother's approval of dating, or her acceptance of this boy. Your problem is to get your own thinking, standards and behavior straightened out. You seemed to be more concerned about sneaking out than about your behavior on your first date with this young man.

My advice is not to date him again and do not "sneak out" with anyone. Do an "about face" and decide on a set of moral standards which will stamp you as a nice girl—not one who drinks and gets involved in heavy necking parties. Decide what you want out of life. Do you want people to think of you as a fine, wholesome teen-age girl, or as a girl who has the reputation of being "easy"—a girl whom nice boys will ignore?

Please think this over carefully, even if you feel resentful toward me. This is the time when you can decide the kind of person you want to be. Your future can be something fine and desirable or it can be sordid and heartbreaking. The choice is yours.

Dear Mrs. Ricker:

I am a young teen-age boy and I am not making much headway with my girl friend. I want to give her my I.D. bracelet but I think she likes another boy. I've already been turned down by another girl. I liked very much so I think I need some advice and information on this subject. Thank you.

HILTON

Dear Hilton:

You seem to be having a lot of difficulty with your girl friends. Perhaps you aren't doing the right things to attract them. If you will send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope I will mail you a free quiz, "How Do You Rate As a Date?" which is offered to readers of this column.

Be sure to include your full name and address. I think you will find the quiz helpful.

U.K.'s New TV Leans Heavily To U.S. Shows

LONDON (Reuters) — Organizers of commercial television in Britain let out a sigh of relief Thursday as they completed their first week in business, without a major hitch.

The public and most of the newspaper critics have welcomed the second channel which has given the British Broadcasting Corporation's single channel its first competition since TV began here in 1936.

All are agreed that the competition has made the BBC improve its own programs. Both channels have borrowed heavily in the last week from American video including such shows as "I Love Lucy," "Dragnet," the Burns and Allen series, Liberace and cowboy films.

Criticism of commercial TV concentrated on advertising, never before seen on British screens. Even though advertisers buy time rather than sponsor shows and are limited to six minutes in one hour, many Britons resent the way commercials are inserted in programs.

The Times was intensely annoyed at the break for advertising during a 90-minute production of Turgeniev's Russian classic, "A Month in the Country."

The newspaper praised the TV version as "an exciting experiment," but condemned the insertion of commercials as "an unfavorably cross intrusion."

RECOVERS — Six-year-old Bobby Jones of Rossland, B.C., has made what doctors call a remarkable recovery after a freak accident paralyzed his right side. His right eye was pierced by a discarded car-radio aerial. The optic nerve was not injured but Bobby's right side was paralyzed and he was unable to walk, talk or eat.

Harrison to Address Economic Commission

City council Thursday authorized Mayor Claude Harrison to appear before the royal commission on Canada's economic prospects.

The five-man commission, headed by Walter L. Gordon of the University of Toronto Board of Governors, is touring Canada and will be in Victoria Nov. 21 and 22.

Mayor Harrison told council he is anxious to present a brief to show the commission Victoria is in a different position than the rest of Canada, "especially financially."

He warned council the commission's findings might result in setting up of a federal trust fund, contributed to by the municipalities, to help provide for expansion necessary in all branches of municipal service.

"This is something that is going to have to be carefully handled or it is going to mean more taxation," he said.

He said he planned to outline to the commission the history which put Victoria "at a disadvantage." He said the preparation of his brief will take at least a month.

IKE ATTACK MAKES DOCTORS BUSY

Everybody's Checking On Their Heart Symptoms

NEW YORK (UP)—President Eisenhower's heart attack has sent men over 40 to their doctors' offices in numbers described by one specialist as "fantastic."

JOINS STAFF AT OLSON MOTORS

MORRIS GROSSMAN

Morris entered the automotive business as an apprentice mechanic in 1929. Since that time he has gained wide experience in every phase of his chosen field. All the advantages of his training are now at your disposal and he is well qualified to assist and advise you in the purchase of a new or used car.

For the past three years, Morris has been connected with Chrysler Products. Why not call in or phone Morris today—at OLSON MOTORS LTD., 4-1147.

The New York Heart Association said its telephone information service has received three times its usual number of calls each day since the president was stricken. Most callers want to know what to do about their own or a relative's real or imagined symptoms, the association said.

A check of three eminent heart doctors showed two had "very noticeable increases" in the number of persons asking for examinations. The third said that in the few days since the president's attack he has booked appointments which will keep him busy for weeks.

One individual who has long worked for public education on the problems of heart disease expressed the belief that the president's illness, tragic though it is, may have done great good in awakening people to the seriousness of the problem.

"It's scared some people into finding out about themselves," he said, "and the fact that the newspapers are full of so much information about what heart disease is and what can be done about it may have long-range benefits for everyone."

Sunday Edition Dearer

WASHINGTON (AP).—The Washington Post and Times Herald announced Thursday night it is raising the price of its Sunday edition to 20 cents a copy, from 15 cents. Daily issues will remain at five cents. The newspaper said the higher rates are necessary because of increased costs.

$2.5 Million Tender To Blast Ripple Rock

OTTAWA (CP)—Public works department engineers Thursday began study of a tender for removal of Ripple rock, a west coast navigational menace 180 miles north of Victoria.

The $2,533,621 tender was submitted jointly by three Vancouver firms—Emil Anderson Construction Co., Northwood Construction Co. Ltd., and Boyles Engineering. A public works official said Thursday night.

Although the tender was the lowest of five received, the official said no recommendation regarding award of the contract will be made until departmental engineers have given it a careful check. This would take about a week.

It was within $100,000 of the estimated cost of removal of Ripple rock given by Works Minister Winters when he announced in the Commons Jan. 13 that the government had accepted a recommendation by a National Research Council committee that the submerged rock be blasted by one powerful underground explosive.

At the time Mr. Winters said its removal would cost about $2,500,000.

FIVE QUALIFIED

Details of other tenders submitted were not available Thursday night, but the official said five were received that met the department's specifications.

He said three other firms offered to remove the rock by other methods, but their bids were not considered.

Dr. Solandt Quits Defence Research

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. O. M. Solandt, 46, chairman of the Defence Research Board since its creation in 1947, resigned today to join Canadian National Railways as assistant vice-president, research and development.

The defence department announced that Dr. Solandt will be succeeded as DRB chairman next March 1 by A. Hartley Zimmerman, 53, a native of Hamilton.

It was understood that Dr. Solandt will become vice-president of the CNR on retirement of S. W. Fairweather in 1957.

No reason was given in the announcement for Dr. Solandt's move to the CNR. But it has been known for some time that he wished to enter private industry. As chairman of DRB, his salary was $17,500 a year. He turned down numerous offers from American private industry which would have paid him as much as $50,000 a year.

In Montreal, CNR president Donald Gordon said the Solandt appointment "marks the emphasis being placed on scientific development in railroad technology."

NUCLEAR EXPERT

Dr. Solandt, native of Winnipeg, probably knows more about nuclear weapons than any other Canadian.

He represented the British war office in Japan on a post-war study of the effects of the atomic bomb bursts on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In 1952, he witnessed the first British atomic bomb tests in Australia.

Since 1947, when the Canadian Defence Research Board was formed with Dr. Solandt as chairman, the DRB has grown to be the largest research organization in Canada with laboratories from Halifax to Esquimalt, B.C., and from Toronto to Churchill, Man.

Dr. Solandt's successor as

DR. O. M. SOLANDT

DRB chairman is a mining engineer and geologist, who served during the Second World War as a director of small arms production and later as director-general of signals production in the department of munitions and supply.

From February, 1952, until early this year Mr. Zimmerman was a member of the Defence Research Board representing the defence production department. Last January he was appointed vice-chairman of the board.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The man expected to head Canada's 1,000,000-member labor force after the merger of the two major congresses says Communist-led unions will not be welcome in the new organization.

Claude Jodoin of Montreal, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said in an unions from membership.

First published aerial view of RCN base at Esquimalt shows rare sight; nearly all ships of Pacific Command in port. Ships are usually scattered up and down coast, on sea training exercises in small groups, or working with units of U.S. Navy. All will be out of port Monday on "Exercise Full House," largest fleet operation ever carried out by the RCN on the West Coast. (See story, Page 21). PRIZE FOR CROSSWORD MOVES UP TO $100

Total prize money in the Times crossword puzzle contest climbs to $100 this week as no winning entry was received last week.

It was the second week in a row that all contestants failed.

"Rest" was one of the words that stumped many puzzlers, most of them giving the answer as "test." Other tough hurdles to top were "Confute" and "Throng," the most common answers for them being "confuse" and "throng."

Complete answer to last week's puzzle with explanation of the definitions of more difficult clues, together with a new puzzle for this week will be found on Page 34 of today's Times.

Ladner Gets Pub Back After 'Mistaken' Vote

Ladner is "wet" again today even though the village of 5,000, 13 miles south of Vancouver, voted "dry" a year ago and there hasn't been a liquor plebiscite in the interim.

It is all a bit complicated and stems from a "misunderstanding" last fall when Ladner residents voted with the rest of the Delta liquor licensing area on the four types of liquor outlets. They turned all four down, including public house licences.

On Dec. 31, the only outlet in Ladner, the Canadian Legion, closed its doors as a result of the plebiscite.

Residents immediately demanded a second vote. They

TEEVEES GO AWANDERING AT THIS TIME

HAMILTON, Ont. (CP)—A woman telephoned police Thursday and said her television set had been stolen while she was out shopping.

Sergeant of detectives Cliff Dean took all the particulars. As he filled in the report for investigating officers, the woman called back to apologize for all the trouble.

Her husband had taken the set to his office to watch the world series.

said they did not realize the "no" vote would close down the only beer parlor in town. "A mistake!" they cried.

This week, the cabinet approved a liquor commission order setting the community of Ladner up as a separate licensing area.

Unless the municipal council, or a majority of citizens demand a new plebiscite, the Canadian Legion will re-apply for its licence, and the town will "wet its whistle" again.

Newspaper Advertising At New High

NEW YORK (AP)—Newspapers racked up all-time records last month in advertising income, the American Newspaper Publishers Association said Thursday.

Automotive advertising set a sizzling pace with an August gain of 47.6 per cent over the same month last year, ANPA said. Total national advertising, including automotive, showed an increase of 15.8 per cent; retail income was up 4.1 per cent, and classified up 19.1 per cent. Advertising of all types combined registered an over-all gain of 10.2 per cent.

The figures were compiled by Media Records Inc., in 52 index cities.

Macmillan Warns Reds On Egypt Arms Deal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (UP)—Britain issued a veiled warning to Russia today not to meddle in the troubled Middle Eastern situation.

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan, in an address to the United Nations general assembly, made no direct reference to the decision of Russia and Czechoslovakia to supply arms to Egypt, but he said:

"A heavy responsibility will lie on any country which introduces any new and disturbing factor into this delicate situation."

Macmillan's words served to reinforce the joint Anglo-American announcement, now also subscribed to by France, that the major powers would not encourage an arms race in the strife-torn Palestine situation.

CAIRO, Egypt (UP)—George V. Allen, ace American diplomatic troubleshooter, flew in from Washington today amid indications that any western attempt to dissuade Egypt from buying military supplies from the Communist bloc is doomed to failure.

Almost simultaneously with Allen's arrival, the British embassy announced that Ambassador Humphrey Trevelyan would call on Premier Gamal Abdel Nasser Saturday. It was understood Trevelyan is to relay to Nasser the British government's "grave concern" over the arms deal agreement between Egypt and Czechoslovakia.

Plane Crashes On Secret Radar Flight

EDMONTON (CP)—A four-engine York air transport with two men aboard was sought today in the Northwest Territories following a radio report from the pilot that he was ditching the plane.

The craft, owned by Associated Airways Ltd. of Edmonton and flying on the DEW (distant early warning) radar line airlift, was believed ditched on some lake in the Great Slave lake area while on a flight to Yellowknife from a secret radar base.

Report of the missing aircraft came only two days after Associated had resumed freight-traffic flying on its DEW lift. All freight traffic had been temporarily suspended following a crash two weeks ago in which two Associated pilots were killed.

Aboard the York were Capt. Joseph Cernak, 40, formerly of Northern Ireland, and First Officer Gerhard Jerry Lozie, 27, a Dutch navy pilot.

Podres' Birthday Tough on Yanks

BROOKLYN (AP)—Johnny Podres, celebrating his 23rd birthday, silenced the New York Yankees' big bats today and Brooklyn Dodgers won the third game of the World Series, 8-3.

The Yanks still have a 2-1 lead in the series after winning the first two games in Yankee Stadium.

A capacity Ebbets Field crowd of 34,209 went wild as southpaw Podres held the Yanks to seven hits while Jackie Robinson and Roy Campanella backed him up with splendid hitting and fielding.

PLAY-BY-PLAY, BOX SCORE ON PAGE 2.

Campanella socked a homer to start the scoring and later added a single that drove in another run and a double.

The wildness of Yankee starter Bob Turley contributed to his own downfall in the second inning after a homer by Mickey Mantle—a surprise starter—had paced the Yanks to a two-run, game-tying rally. The Dodgers broke the tie with two gift runs and continued to score against three other Yankee pitchers.

The first two innings contained enough action and excitement for a whole game.

FIRST HIT A HOMER

The Dodgers took a 2-0 lead in the first when Campanella smashed a home run—his first hit of the series—into the left-center field stands behind a walk of Pee-wee Reese.

The Yanks came back to tie it in the second, putting together three of their hits off Podres with a Brooklyn error for two runs. The lame-legged Mantle opened with a 393-foot home run drive into the centre field stands. Bill Skowron doubled and, after two were out, Rizzuto slashed a single to left. Skowron steamed to the plate, crashed into Campanella as he took the throw and knocked the ball out of his grasp. It was an error for the Dodger catcher and a run for the Yanks.

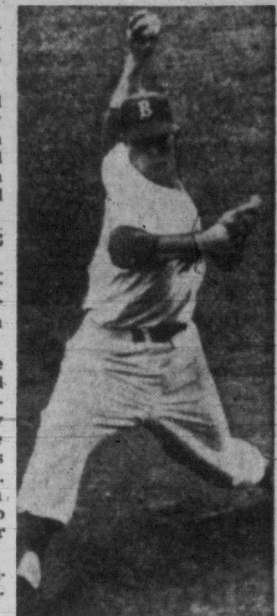

After that the Yanks couldn't score again until the seventh and Brooklyn regained the lead when Turley's control went sour in the last of the second. With one out, Robinson singled and Sandy Amoros was hit by a pitched ball. Podres bunted down the third base line and it was called a hit when Turley took the ball in front of Gil McDougald, bobbled it momentarily and couldn't make a throw.

With the bases full and Robinson dancing off third in a distracting way, Turley walked Junior Gilliam to force in the tie-breaking run. Tom Morgan was called in at this stage and issued a pass to Reese that sent in Amoros with another run before he got the side out.

Brooklyn got two more runs in the fourth to stretch its lead to 6-2.

GET TO PODRES

The Yanks began hitting Podres in the sixth and finally got their third run in the seventh on a walk to Rizzuto and a three-bagger by Andy Carey, pinch-hitting for Johnny Kucks, the third Yankee pitcher. Brooklyn came right back with two more in the same inning, due largely to some base running by Robinson.

Half Billion Ford Earnings For Expansion

MAHWAH, N.J. (UP)—Henry Ford II predicted here that the American economy is about to break through onto a "new, higher plateau" of prosperity.

He announced that the Ford Motor Company will spend a record $500,000,000 for expansion in 1956.

Ford said the money would come from earnings and not borrowing. The amount probably is a record for expansion for any company of Ford's size during any single year, he said.

Ford spoke at a dinner sponsored by state officials and the new Jersey chamber of commerce honoring the company in connection with the dedication today of Ford's new assembly plant.

Ford said there was a need for Americans to show their faith in the economy.

"The so-called market of the future, the explosion we all anticipate for the early sixties, is no longer a distant dream."

"In effect, we are now in a condition of unplanned scarcity because we can't produce adequately to meet the demands of this great American market," he said.

Ford said he did not think that the American economy could move ahead too quickly if there was proper planning.

'Use These on Those V's'

New Cougar hockey players, Art Asleson, left, and Howie Hornby, got a preliminary lesson in what hockey fans will expect from the club tonight when it faces Penitence V's at Memorial Arena. Explaining the history of the jungle cat's ferocity is Dr. Clifford

Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. However, it could be an omen, in that the Cougar (the stuffed one), was not in its regular place today; someone had tied a knot in his tail. Game time is 8.30. (Times Photo by Strickland.)

MOVES UP TO $100

Total prize money in the Times crossword puzzle contest climbs to $100 this week as no winning entry was received last week.

It was the second week in a row that all contestants failed.

"Rest" was one of the words that stumped many puzzlers, most of them giving the answer as "test." Other tough hurdles to top were "confute" and "throng," the most common answers for them being "confuse" and "throne."

Complete answer to last week's puzzle with explanation of the definitions of more difficult clues, together with a new puzzle for this week will be found on Page 34 of today's Times.

UN to Debate Algerian Crisis

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (BUP)—The United Nations voted today to debate the Algerian crisis despite French threats to withdraw from the UN if such a debate was started.

Key Men to Face Alberta Probe

CALGARY (CP)—The Calgary Herald says four key men in highway construction and maintenance in Alberta will be the first witnesses called before the Royal Commission hearing charges of maladministration by the Social Credit government.

Hearings of the commission will open Monday in Edmonton.

The newspaper says the first witnesses during investigation into the handling of road contracts by the government will be Alex Frame, deputy minister of highways; A. M. Paull, chief construction engineer; Leslie McManus, chief bridge engineer; and J. H. Johnston, chief maintenance engineer.

Kidnappers Free on $10,000 Bail

GREENWOOD, Miss. (CP)—Roy Bryant and John Milam, charged with kidnapping Emmett Louis Till, 14-year-old Chicago Negro, were freed under $10,000 bonds today to await trial.

The two white men were acquitted of murder in the death of the visiting Negro lad. They had admitted kidnapping him after he allegedly whistled at Bryant's wife but denied killing him.

British Ship Attacked

HONG KONG (Reuters)—The 1,911-ton British steamer Tefkros was attacked by two Chinese Nationalist P-84 fighters off the Communist mainland port of Swatow today, the Communist New China News Agency reported.

Two members of the crew were injured and taken to a hospital on shore, the agency said.

The agency quoted the skipper, Capt. A. L. Marchant, as calling the attack "plain murder."

Ladner Gets Pub Back
After 'Mistaken' Vote

Ladner is "wet" again today even though the village of 5,000, 13 miles south of Vancouver, voted "dry" a year ago and there hasn't been a liquor plebiscite in the interim.

It is all a bit complicated and stems from a "misunderstanding" last fall when Ladner residents voted with the rest of the Delta liquor licensing area on the four types of liquor outlets.

They turned all four down, including public house licences. On Dec. 31, the only outlet in Ladner, the Canadian Legion, closed its doors as a result of the plebiscite.

Unless the municipal council, or a majority of citizens demand a new plebiscite, the Canadian Legion will re-apply for its licence, and the town will "wet its whistle" again.

Dr. Solandt Quits
Defence Research

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. O. M. Solandt, 46, chairman of the Defence Research Board since its creation in 1947, resigned today to join Canadian National Railways as assistant vice-president, research and development.

The defence department announced that Dr. Solandt will be succeeded as DRB chairman next March 1 by A. Hartley Zimmerman, 53, a native of Hamilton.

It was understood that Dr. Solandt will become vice-president of the CNR on retirement of S. W. Fairweather in 1957.

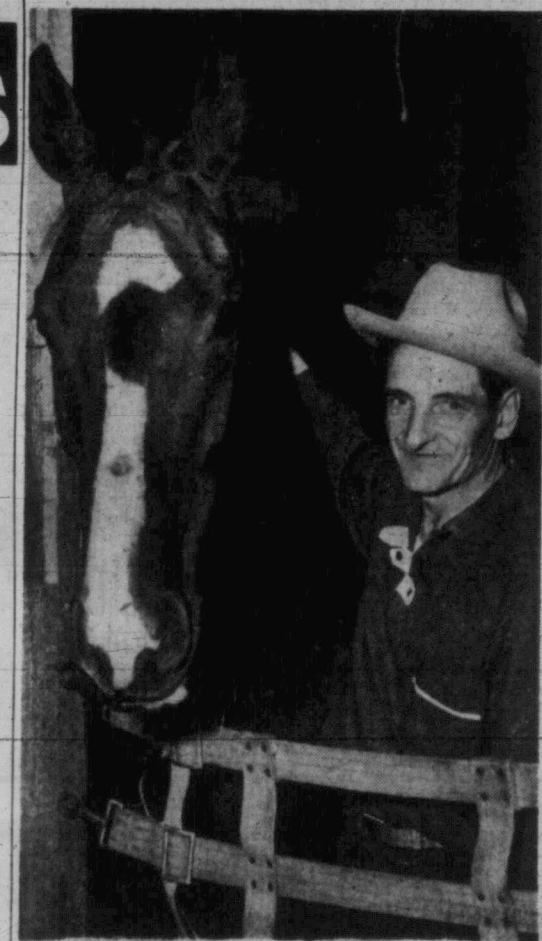

No reason was given in the announcement for Dr. Solandt's move to the CNR. But it has been known for some time that he wished to enter private industry.

As chairman of DRB, his salary was $17,500 a year. He turned down numerous offers from American private industry which would have paid him as much as $50,000 a year.

In Montreal, CNR president Donald Gordon said the Solandt appointment "marks the emphasis being placed on scientific development in railroad techniques."

Dr. Solandt, native of Winnipeg, probably knows more about nuclear weapons than any other Canadian.

He represented the British war office in Japan on a post-war study of the effects of the atomic bomb bursts on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. In 1952,

'Queen' Goes Saturday

Tabbed as "Queen" of B.C. racing on the mainland this season Chilliwack Stables' six-year-old mare, Magic Note, is entered in the Times $1,000 Handicap over a mile at Sandown track Saturday. Magic Note, seen with owner-trainer Tommy Fenton, will have veteran Alex Haller up, as she goes against a field including Remner, Pen Oracle, Cocos, Lucy's Doll, Dimitri and My Lands.

Baby Rose Wins First

Photo finishes continued the order at Sandown track this afternoon as M and M Stable's Baby Rose held off a stretch drive by All Brick to cop the opening race by a head.

Today's crowd showed a marked improvement and track officials were looking forward to a big Saturday turn out with the $1,000 Times Handicap over a mile the feature event. The big one has attracted seven entries.

Picking up the early pacesetter, Here's Tae Us at the first turn Baby Rose, with J. Patton aboard, took command and had enough in the final run to beat All Brick with Here's Tae Us third.

South Hill, the public choice, was never a serious contender. Baby Rose paid $12, $5.30 and $3.20. All Brick paid $4.70 and $3.90 and Here's Tae Us $4.70. Running time was 1:16.

Sneaking through on the rail entering the stretch, when the two pacesetters Paradise Queen and Meat Man went wide, the odds on favorite Man of Spirit took the second heat, with Paradise Queen second and Cranky Frank third. Man of Spirit was ridden by L. Guarasci and the running time was 1:15 3/5.

Man of Spirit paid $3.80, $3.10 and $2.70. Paradise Queen's mutuels were $4.90 and $3.90 while a $2 show ticket on Cranky Frank brought back $2.90.

The quinella was worth $13. Post time for Saturday's card will be 1:30.

Pitches Brooklyn
To 8-3 Victory
On 23rd Birthday

BROOKLYN, N.Y. (BUP)—Johnny Podres pitched the staggering Brooklyn Dodgers back into World Series contention today with a seven-hit, 8-3 victory over the New York Yankees to cut the Yanks' lead to 2-1.

PLAY-BY-PLAY, BOX SCORE

Podres, a little lefthander, celebrating his 23rd birthday, made it an all-southpaw series so far as he muffled the Yankee bats with a hopping fast ball and a tantalizing change of pace.

A standing room crowd of 34,209 howled with joy as their beloved Dodgers, two games down, jumped on bullet Bob Turley for four runs in the first two innings and scored two more in the fourth and two more in the seventh.

MUST BEAT JINX

Still, no team has lost the first two games and then come back to win since the series was made a best-of-seven affair.

The Brooks supported Podres with 11 hits, including Roy Campanella's two-run homer and three runs batted in, and Jackie Robinson's all-round play at bat and in the field.

The two teams remain in Brooklyn for the next two games and return to the Yankee Stadium for the remaining games, if necessary.

Once before, in 1947, the Dodgers lost the first two games in the Stadium but came back to battle the Yanks down to the wire, only to lose in the seventh game.

In Saturday's fourth game Carl Erskine, a righthander, is slated to work for the Dodgers, and Lon Larsen, another righthander, for the Yankees.

JOHNNY PODRES
... big birthdayChange-Up
Was Podres'
Big Weapon

By TED SMITS

BROOKLYN (AP)—Johnny Podres, sweat dripping from his face, said today after his sparkling world series victory on his 23rd birthday that his change-up pitch was the best it had been all year.

"My best pitches were my fast ball and the change-up was exceptional. I mixed 'em up quite a bit," he said in the jubilant Dodger dressing room after the Yankees had been put down 8-3.

"I was a bit tired at the end, but I had enough left," Manager Walt Alston, not smiling much more than he did after losing two games in Yankee Stadium, admitted that "we looked like we are supposed to look."

PODRES WAS TOPS

"I thought Podres had real good stuff and held it real good," said Alston. "He was a little tired in the eighth and ninth. When he warmed up he seemed to be the best he had been all year."

'Use These on Those V's'

New Cougar hockey players, Art Asleson, left, and Howie Hornby, got a preliminary lesson in what hockey fans will expect from the club tonight when it faces the world amateur hockey champion Penitence V's at Memorial Arena. Explaining the history of the jungle cat's ferocity is Dr. Clifford Carl, director of the Provincial Museum. However, it could be an omen, in that the Cougar (the stuffed one), was not in its regular place today; someone had tied a knot in his tail. Game time is 8.30. (Times Photo by Strickland.)
